CONFUSION OF CO-PILOTS CAUSES FATAL CRASH

Second Tempest Sweeps Britain; Many Perish in Shipwreck Off Irish Coast

STEAMSHIP SINKS IN TERRIFIC GALE; FEW OF MEN SAVED

Fate of German Vessel Herrenwyk Told by Danish Steamer Which Had Stood By for Twenty-Four Hours in Effort to Rescue—Undetermined Number of Crew Lost

Cannot Float Boats in Stormy Sea But Thirteen Sailors Are Rescued

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The loss of an undetermined number of the crew of the German steamer Herrenwyk was indicated tonight by a radio message from the Danish steamer Estonia, which had stood by for more than twenty-four hours in an effort to succor the distressed craft. The message received by Lloyd's tonight, relayed by the Ss. Transylvania and the Portishead Radio Station, read: "Steamer Herrenwyk sank approximately 52:22 North, 23:53 West. Terrific northwest gale. We are standing by, but impossible to launch boats. Seven men picked up. Total saved 13. Patrolling spot."

Earlier messages from the Estonia had been equally terse, but between the lines seamen read a story of heroic attempts to save the German crew when their ship became unmanageable about 645 miles west of Ireland. Herself laboring heavily under the force of the northwest gale, the Danish steamer had clung doggedly to the vicinity of the other craft. Between the squalls which drove over the ocean last night the rescuers succeeded in taking off six of the Herrenwyk crew. Darkness then halted the work, but the Estonia rode nearby until daylight.

North Vancouver Has Population Totaling 8,884

NORTH VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—The population of North Vancouver is 8,884, an increase of 1,232 over that shown by the official census in 1921, according to Wrigley's Directories, Ltd., which has completed its survey for the City Council. The Government census of 1921 showed a total of 7,652 persons.

BULGARIAN LEADER DEFIES GOVERNMENT

SOFIA, Nov. 23.—After an exchange of defiances, the Bulgarian Government tonight dispatched troops to Petritch to attempt to capture Ivan Michailoff, leader of the belligerent faction of the Macedonian revolutionary party.

In view of Michailoff's rejection of a government ultimatum it was not expected he will allow himself to be taken without bitter fighting.

FOUND DEAD NEAR TRACK

WINNIPEG, Nov. 23.—The body of a youth who was believed to have been killed while attempting to hop" a train or in crossing in front of one, was found beside the tracks in the C.P.R. yards here today.

SECOND STORM HITS BRITAIN; DAMAGE HEAVY

Two Deaths in Liverpool and Two in Hull—Wind Reaches Velocity of 100 Miles in Yorkshire

CHANNEL STEAMER SERVICE CANCELLED

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Another Autumn gale, bringing loss of life, distress to shipping, interference with land transport, and extensive property damage, raged through England today. The wind reached an official velocity of eighty-four miles an hour in one place. It was estimated at 100 miles an hour in Yorkshire.

Two persons were killed in Liverpool. One of them was a sandwich board man. The other victim was caught under a falling tree. Hull also reported two deaths, an aged man, struggling homeward through the gale, fell dead from over-exertion, and a schoolgirl was killed when a chimney fell as the pupils were leaving a classroom.

So fierce was the blow on the Channel that railway steamer service between Dover and Ostend was cancelled at midday. The afternoon airplane trips from Croydon to the Continent were also called off.

In London, roofs, shop windows and billboards suffered severely. The whole city was drenched with heavy rains.

HIGH COMMISSIONER NOT LONG IN OFFICE

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Nov. 23.—Through a private message received from Sir John Bennett, recently appointed Newfoundland High Commissioner to London prior to the defeat of the Allerdyce Government, it was learned that he vacated the office yesterday, having received notice from the Squires Administration of the abolition of the commissionership. Shortly after taking over the Government, Sir Richard Squires announced that the high commissionership would give way to an "effective trade agency."

Winnipeg Unanimous For Hydro

WINNIPEG, Nov. 23.—The electors of Winnipeg, voting in today's civic elections, approved of plans for a $6,500,000 development scheme of the city hydro system, calling for the construction of additional power units at Slave Falls, on the Winnipeg River.

The by-law calling for the $6,500,000 expenditure of Slave Falls was adopted by a large majority, the vote being for 13,137, against 484.

CONDITION OF KING BETTER DOCTORS SAY

Whole British Nation Relieved by Publication of More Favorable Bulletin by Court Physicians

PATIENT IS QUIET; TEMPERATURE LOW

No Further Extension of Congestion in Lung—Careful X-Ray Examination Aids Diagnosis

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The whole British nation, stirred with an intense solicitude for the health of King George, was relieved tonight by the issuance of a more favorable bulletin than many had dared hope for. The nation had passed an anxious day watching for news from the sickroom at Buckingham Palace.

King George's physicians, Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson of Penn, in their formal statement tonight said:

"The King had a quieter day. His temperature is lower and there was no further extension of the mischief in the lung."

The physicians have been in frequent attendance throughout the day, and in order to have a complete diagnosis had made a careful X-ray examination of the infected lung. Tonight they arrived at the palace at 7 o'clock, but it was nearly 9 o'clock before they issued their bulletin of encouragement.

HOPE WORST IS OVER

It now is hoped that the worst of the illness has passed and that the physicians have the disorder under control. A large gathering of the public was waiting outside the palace to hear the good news. The extent to which the King's illness has stopped all court life was shown in tonight's issue of the Court Circular. This is usually a fairly full document relating all the court activities of the day, but tonight it was limited to a four-line announcement that "the Queen of Spain, the Duke of York, Princess Louise, Princess Beatrice, and the Dowager Marchioness of Cambridge visited Queen Mary today."

There was indeed a constant succession of callers at the palace today, including Lord Allenby, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Lord Chancellor Hailsham. The Duke of York, the only son of the King now in England, dined tonight with his mother, but according to present arrangements, will return to Naseby Hall tomorrow to spend the week-end with the Duchess of York.

MAY TAKE SEA VOYAGE

If, as tonight's bulletin gives room for hope, the illness of King George

CAN HALF ROAD BE CLASSIFIED?

BOUNDARY ROAD BETWEEN VANCOUVER AND BURNABY IS CURIOUS PROBLEM

District Municipality Wants Eastern Side Declared Eligible to Grant Toward Improvement

The Department of Public Works has a peculiar situation facing it in connection with the classification of certain roads. It arises in the case of Boundary Road, which runs north and south from Burrard Inlet to the Fraser River, constituting the boundary line between the city of Greater Vancouver as now defined, and the municipality of Burnaby.

A delegation waited on the Minister of Public Works yesterday for the purpose of requesting the classification of the road, upon which would depend the granting of aid by the Government for the upkeep of the highway.

The Government is not responsible for the upkeep of any roads in city municipalities, but it may if so classified become responsible for a share in the maintenance of those in rural municipalities.

It is on this basis that the trouble arises in connection with the Boundary Road. Half of the road is in the city and the other half in Burnaby. Hon. N. S. Lougheed is at a loss to know how classification can be carried out under such circumstances, and so explained his difficulties to the delegation from the Burnaby Council at the interview yesterday.

The road cuts four classified roads and is one that is an important one in the system of suburban communication. At the same time there will have to be a lot of consideration given to the matter before deciding what can be done so that there may be no precedents established to make the situation embarrassing for the future.

Tacoma Airplane Is Total Wreck Here

—Photograph by H. R. Stenton.

THE Tacoma Alexander Eaglerock airplane, piloted by Mr. Arthur Raybone, and carrying as a dual pilot Mr. Valdemar Bendrodt, was totally wrecked, the pilot killed and Mr. Bendrodt badly injured when it crashed to the ground at Lansdowne airdrome yesterday afternoon. The stays are twisted into all shapes, the wings ripped and broken, the engine jarred from its bed and the undercarriage destroyed. The pilot's seat was buckled up like an accordion. The propeller was shattered into a thousand splinters. Hundreds of people gathered to view the wreckage following the plunge to earth.

Underwriters' Plans to Extend City Waterworks Would Cost $2,865,000

TO carry out suggested improvement of city waterworks in order to secure the full credit points of the British Columbia Insurance Underwriters' Association, an outlay of $2,865,000 would be required, according to the report of Mr. F. M. Preston, water commissioner, filed yesterday. Of this sum $1,250,000 would be required to scrap four-inch mains and another $30,000 to eliminate the dead-ends on six-inch and four-inch mains.

The largest other single item is to carry the Goldstream main through to the reservoir and to interconnect it as recommended, estimated to cost $294,000.

The third large outlay suggested is that of $175,000 to improve the general arterial system on a well-defined plan over the entire city.

Additional hydrants recommended downtown would entail a cost of $35,000, and supplementary hydrants in the residential districts would cost $25,000.

The gridiron system in the business district, which was initiated when the salt water high pressure system was inaugurated, might be extended by more cross-connections, the underwriters suggest, and this expenditure Mr. Preston sets at $20,000.

Valve spacing in the arteries, as suggested for improvement, would cost $25,000, and other items would embrace expenditure aggregating $11,000.

Western Branch, Canadian Mining Institute Votes for Formal Protest to Go to Minister of Mines

As a result of criticism by A. M. Whiteside, L. A. Bonner and R. W. Haggen, the meeting voted to refer the complaints to a joint committee of the Institute

British Realms In East Africa May Form Union

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The Daily Express today said that steps were being taken toward combining Tanganyika Territory, Kenya Colony and Uganda Protectorate into an East African Dominion. The Government is said to be about to take the matter into consideration. These districts combined would total nearly eight times the size of Great Britain and would have a population of 10,000,000.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC IN SOUTH SEA ISLAND

PAPETE, Nov. 23.—Tahiti and the neighboring islands of French Polynesia in the South Pacific, are again under the blight of influenza, which has prostrated the population almost as extensively as the disastrous epidemic of 1918-19. The visitation, however, is less malignant than ten years ago and as both physicians and people know how to treat the patients, the death rate has not been heavy. An epidemic of measles having also broken out, it was necessary to close the schools and places of public assembly.

TREATMENT OF LOGGED AREAS IS DISCUSSED

Farmers' Institute Feels Logging Companies Are Not Fair to Incoming Agriculturist

MORE GRAZING LANDS ESSENTIAL

The Farmers' Institute, District A, at the convention here yesterday, discussed the problem of logged-off lands, on report of a resolution from the Quatsino district.

At the outset, Mr. Pearce, chairman of the committee, suggested that the matter should be postponed in view of the fact that the British Government was at present considering an enormous immigration scheme, which might be expected to affect the question to a considerable extent. Captain J. D. Groves, on the other hand, said that he considered the matter called very strongly for discussion, and believed that he thought some way might be discovered of making it reasonably possible for the logging companies to clean up the tops and brush after their operations, thereby reducing the fire hazard, and making it possible to put down grass in order that the land might be of immediate use for grazing purposes.

It was hardly fair, he maintained, that the farmers should be expected to clear up after the loggers, and he felt that the matter might be discussed with advantage at the present convention.

Accordingly, P. Z. Caverhill, chief

League's Work Is Endorsed by Mr. Plunkett

"I am heartily in favor of the objects of the League of Nations Society looking to preserve international peace," writes Mr. D. B. Plunkett, Conservative candidate in Victoria to the secretary of the Victoria Branch of the League of Nations Society in Canada.

"Not only does the League seek by honorable means to prevent war, but also to guard the people from the ravages of disease, and also, through the International Labor Bureau, to improve the conditions of Labor throughout the world.

"You may rest assured that if I am elected to represent the City of Victoria at Ottawa I shall give my hearty support to these objects and follow in Dr. Tolmie's footsteps in attending the Central Executive meetings and that the local branch of the League of Nations Society will find in me an active friend."

FAILURE OF DOUBLE CONTROL PLAN LEADS TO PLANE FATALITY

Mr. Arthur Raybone Is Killed and Mr. Valdemar Bendrodt Badly Injured When Tacoma Plane Plunges to Earth at Lansdowne Airdrome—Both Victoria Men

Agreement to Alternate Control Is Disclosed by Eyewitness

TWO men at the dual control of an airplane, when flying only 300 feet from the ground, each thinking the other had control of the machine, is believed to have caused the tragedy at the Lansdowne Airdrome at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Arthur Raybone, aged thirty years, native-born Victorian, was instantly killed, and Mr. Valdemar Bendrodt, aged about thirty years, well known Victoria sportsman, newspaperman and traffic manager of the B.C. Airways, Limited, was badly injured. Mr. Bendrodt is in the Jubilee Hospital and it is reported will recover from his injuries.

Well Known Local Aviator Killed

MR. ARTHUR RAYBONE

According to Mr. Robin Ledingham, member of the city fire department, he took part in a conversation between Mr. Raybone and Mr. Bendrodt, who arranged, before taking the air, to alternate at the controls, and that Mr. Bendrodt should land the plane. These plans are believed to have gone awry at the crucial moment, when the plane was only 300 feet from the ground. Mr. Ledingham, who was an eye-witness, says that after the plane had completed making a figure eight in the sky and straightened out on its course, it seemed to hesitate, or act queerly, as if out of control. It tilted downward and never came out of the dive, but crashed to the ground, plunging its nose into the earth with terrific force, which totally wrecked the machine and killed the pilot.

STORY IS TOLD

Mr. Ledingham's story is as follows:

"Arthur flew over here on Wednesday from Tacoma in his plane." The plane was an Alexander Eaglerock plane, registered as C-1228, and belonged to a commercial aviation company in Tacoma for whom Mr. Raybone worked, doing forestry patrol work.

"I knew Arthur well, and he came to visit me as soon as he arrived. He, 'Benny' Bendrodt and I went to the aerodrome in the morning (Friday). Arthur's plan was to go up and see what the weather was like for his return trip. He had invited me to go back with him. The weather was too bad to even get off the local field.

"We again went out in the afternoon and it was arranged that Arthur and Bendrodt should go up first to see how the weather was.

"Before going up the two arranged with each other to alternate at the controls, and that Benny should land the plane. They took off at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon.

"They flew over Smith's Hill, circled around the city and then came back to the vicinity of the aerodrome by crossing over the city.

PREMIER TELLS OF WORK DONE

DR. TOLMIE REVIEWS PROGRESS MADE TOWARD CARRYING OUT POLICIES

Decisions Arrived at Also Outlined—Marketing Bureau to Be Established

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—Securing of rail connection over the P.G.E. to the Peace River country; development of interprovincial trade; a survey of the timber resources of British Columbia, and the settlement of Sumas and other public lands that had been cleared, were aims of the Provincial Government which were announced by Premier S. F. Tolmie in addressing the Young Conservative Association at luncheon here today.

The Premier touched upon the various endeavors that were being made to effect the progress of the province in keeping with the pledges and policies he voiced before the election last July.

Some criticism has been voiced, he said, of the manner in which some departments have been reorganized. This, he declared, was to secure efficiency, and in the securing of efficiency, savings had been effected. He reiterated that what the Government demanded was public service, and it mattered not what the politics of a man might be, if he was filling a position that was necessary and was doing his work well he would be retained.

DUDLEY MILLER BADLY INJURED

JAMES ISLAND MAN DRIVES AUTO INTO HEAD-ON COLLISION WITH STREET CAR

Mr. Dudley Miller, of James Island, narrowly escaped death at 10:30 o'clock last night, when the automobile he was driving collided with a street car near the intersection of Douglas Street and Queen's Avenue.

Injuries sustained by Mr. Miller, while of a severe nature, did not necessitate his going to the hospital. When brought to the first aid room at the police station by Constables Robert Ireland and Sydney Wilkinson, it was found that splinters of glass had pierced his right cheek, made a deep gash in his chin that required three stitches, several other bad cuts about the face and two wounds in the left leg. A piece of glass pierced the left leg and another splinter caused a deep cut. His injuries were attended to by Dr. E. C. Hart.

Mr. Miller was driving north on Government Street, near Queen's Avenue, when the accident occurred. The police report says that Mr. Miller was overtaking another car at the time, when a southbound, Outer Wharf car, driven by Operator F. W. Doherty, was approaching. Mr. Miller's car collided head-on with the street car. The automobile is a total wreck. It is thought by police that in trying to pass the other automobile Mr. Miller swung too wide and placed himself in the path of the approaching street car.

now follows a mild course, leading to recovery, there is little doubt that he will be advised as soon as he is convalescent to take another sea trip, as he did following upon his last serious illness. His physician at that time counselled His Majesty never to spend another Winter in England, but to seek a milder climate. The King, however, set public devotion to duty first, and this, added to his well-known love of life in his home country, induced him to ignore the medical advice.

Official information given at Buckingham Palace just before midnight was that the King continues to make satisfactory progress.

FEEL REASSURED

The Duke of York left the palace shortly before 11 p.m., and drove to his home in Piccadilly where he will spend the night. Throughout the evening persons in formal evening dress stopped their cars at the palace gates to inquire as to the condition of the King. They were given reassuring replies. It was understood that both physicians were satisfied with their patient's condition tonight, and His Majesty's household felt reassured after the evening bulletin. It is believed that the sound constitution of King George is enabling him to fight the disease with good results. The public found another good omen in the fact that Lord Dawson was able to fulfill a private engagement tonight.

MINING MEN SAY B.C. LAWS NEED REFORM

and the Mining Association of British Columbia, in order that a formal protest might be forwarded to the Minister of Mines.

Summing up the suggested amendments, Mr. Whiteside listed them as follows:

"Repeal of the punitive clauses in both acts (the Mineral Act and the Placer Mining Act), relating to the lapse of free miner's certificates.

"Plain statutory directions enabling the prospectors to describe accurately the limits of placer mining leases.

"Clearer definition of the rights of holders of dredging leases.

"Some corrections and additions in form and definition of terms.

"Consideration should also be given to the form and terms of the leases themselves, so as to make their provisions accord more closely with the act.

PRESENT LAW BAD

"There is only one existing reason for requiring prospectors and operators to take out free miner's certificates," said Mr. Whiteside, "and that is to insure a revenue from each individual of $5, and from each company according to the amount of its nominal capital.

"As the enactment stands at the present time, if, by inadvertance or otherwise, an owner allows his free miner's certificate to lapse, even momentarily, without renewal, he may thereby suffer the total loss of all his mining property, however valuable it may be; and, if he is the sole owner, upon expiration of his certificate without renewal his mine or claim or leasehold ipso facto became vacant and unoccupied waste land of the Crown, open to the public for location, and may be taken by any stranger who possesses a certificate."

Mr. Whiteside dealt at some length with the difficulty under the present regulations of a placer miner determining the lateral boundaries of his claim along a creek, and the division of opinion regarding its length measurement—whether in the general direction of the stream or along its meandering course.

"BLACKMAIL PERMIT"

In strenuous language Mr. Bonner amplified what Mr. Whiteside had said regarding the free miner's certificate. He described it as a "blackmail permit." He told of a company who had spent three-quarters of a million, only to be "done out of their property because they did not get a new miner's certificate."

Mr. Bonner said that the biggest placer in the country had been held up ten years because of a threat of a certificate held over them.

Mr. Bonner advocated some sort of a certificate which signified ownership at a certain time.

Mr. Haggen took up the matter of fractions between claims of a group. He contended that the act should be amended in order to facilitate the staking of a group without leaving fractions which afterwards might be filed on by outsiders.

OTHER TOPICS

Mining methods at the Chicagoff Mine were explained by G. T. Jackson. W. J. Asselstine, mine superintendent of the Premier Mine, gave a short talk on the methods employed at that property.

The meeting concluded with the passage of resolutions, among them one felicitating the new Minister of Mines, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, on his appointment, expressing confidence in the present technical staff of the department, and offering co-operation of the Institute.

Another resolution expressed the hope that the present differences in interpretation of the word "mineral" in Federal and Provincial legislation would be eliminated.

COAST SMELTER NEEDED

British Columbia has need of another Trail smelter—one on tidewater—Premier S. F. Tolmie declared tonight in responding to the toast to the Province at the banquet which concluded the annual meeting of the Western branch, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

"We have heard much of the Trail smelter," said the Premier. "The time has come when we need a similar institution on the Coast, where it can take advantage of the cheap water rate. Miners can expect wholesale co-operation from this Government."

J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, who was in the chair, proposed the toast to the Lieutenant-Governor.

His honor spoke of the wonderful development which had marked British Columbia mining, and he expressed satisfaction to see that the young men were taking their place in the industry.

Following the Premier, Hon. W. A. McKenzie assured the mining men that no amendments to the act would be submitted without reference to the mining men of the province. He assured them that there would be no really drastic amendments to the act at the coming session. They might rest assured that the Government would act with caution along this line.

Ore Testing Service At Vancouver Wanted

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—A Federal ore testing laboratory for Vancouver should be the aim of British Columbia mining men, they were told by G. C. MacKenzie, chairman of the luncheon held by the Western branch, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, today. Plans for the establishment of such a laboratory had been matured at one time, said Mr. MacKenzie, then the project was dropped.

TREATMENT OF LOGGED AREAS IS DISCUSSED

forester, was called in and asked, as an expert, to give his views on the matter. Under existing circumstances, said Mr. Caverhill, when the logging industry was not paying a cent of profit, it would be prohibitive for the loggers to pile and burn their rubbish in every case. Where the rubbish was thought to constitute a public nuisance or menace, the law provided that the matter should be reported to his department, which would then refer it to the minister, who would have the power to force the logging company to get rid of the brush in the most suitable way. On small sections, where the fire hazard is not great, he continued, a better crop of timber was procured by omitting to burn.

CHECK ON BRACKEN

While he was on the subject of fire hazards, he pointed out that the bracken hazard could be obviated by the use of "subterranean clover," which is now being used for the same purpose in Australia, and which spreads a thick network of roots below the surface of the ground, and chokes out the bracken.

British Columbia, in his opinion, could not afford to cut down her logging industry, which employed over forty thousand men, and provided 20 per cent of the Government revenue. The best step to take with regard to the clearing of the brush seemed to him to be that the farmers' institutes should do everything in their power to co-operate with the work of the classification of lands. This had already been started, he said, and was dividing the logged-off lands which could be turned to agricultural purposes from those on which it would not be feasible to graze cattle or sheep.

Mr. Hill said that if one thousand acres of the logged-off land of the Metchosin district were to be put down to grass, he was prepared to guarantee that every acre would be immediately rented by local farmers for grazing their stock.

MISERABLE CONDITION

Mr. Fisher said that the logging industry had reached a miserable state of affairs. The logging companies were not making any money, the countryside was being ruined, and all because keen competition from the United States, which already owned some 75 per cent of Canadian logging industries, was deliberately setting to work to make Canadians strip their forests in order that she might control the market in a few years' time.

Captain Groves said that it was essential that "we should not take a shortsighted view of the matter."

Failure of Double Control Plan Leads To Plane Fatality

When they arrived over the aerodrome they began to do stunt flying. They did figure planing, banked, dipped, did spirals and several figure eights in the air. While they were doing this I could see by the way in which the plane behaved that they were alternating at the controls. The moth plane of the Victoria Aero Club was up, too, with Pilot A. H. Wilson and Mr. G. Burns. They were manoeuvring around in the air at the same time as Arthur and Benny.

MACHINE HESITATES

"After the Eaglerock had done stunt flying it circled around the field and then did a small figure eight and straightened out on its course. Then it seemed to hesitate as if no one was in control. It tilted and never came out of the dip. It took a nose dive and headed straight for the ploughed field. The impact was terrific.

"Arthur was pinned in his seat. The nose of the plane buckled the pilot's seat like an accordion. Arthur was bleeding from the mouth and nose as if he had had a hemorrhage. Benny was stunned by the jolt and lay limp in his seat. People came rushing across the field from all directions. There were many who watched the manoeuvres. The moth plane came down and shortly after the police patrol arrived and took Arthur away, while Benny was taken to the hospital."

The plane was a complete wreck. Both wings were shattered and the stays twisted into all shapes. The engine was wrenched from its bed, the undercarriage completely demolished and the propeller shattered into a thousand splinters.

The body of Arthur Raybone has been taken to the B.C. Funeral Parlors, where an inquest will be held. Bendrodt was reported to be resting comfortably last night, after spending several hours in a state bordering on delirium from the shock that he had received. His injuries were bad cuts and bruises about the face and head and a broken left arm. Dr. Gordon Kenning and Dr. Stuart Kenning are attending him.

Mr. Raybone is survived by his father, Mr. Enoch Raybone, of 310 Michigan Street, his brother, Stanley Raybone, his wife and four-month-old child, who reside in Tacoma.

Mr. Raybone was an aviator during the war, joining the Royal Flying Corps. On his return here in 1918 he went to Tacoma to engage in commercial aviation, and during last Summer was on forestry patrol work. He risked his life last August in flying in foggy weather over the Olympic peninsula searching for survivors of the B.C. Airways monoplane crash on August 25.

MR. V. BENDRODT

Mr. Valdemar Bendrodt, known among a wide circle of friends as just "Benny," also took a prominent part as an aviator in the Great War. On his return he taught in several high schools in the province and later joined the editorial staff of The Colonist, being employed as a journalist for some six years. When the B.C. Airways, Ltd., established the air service between Victoria, Seattle and Vancouver last Spring, his old calling led him to leave the newspaper work and become traffic manager for the B.C. Airways, Limited.

He suggested that the aid of the Government might be invoked in making it financially possible for the loggers to clear the land when they left it.

Eventually it was decided that the power to further an arrangement by which the logging companies should clear away tops and brush from those scenes of their operations which might subsequently be used for grazing purposes, and also that they should speed up the work of land classification.

CHICAGO NEWSPAPER GUILTY OF SLANDER

REGINA, Nov. 23.—Sam Pat, of Craik, Sask., who was the subject of a sensational arrest by the Mounted Police last August on suspicion arising out of the disappearance of Joe Germaine four years ago, was today awarded $1,000 damages by Mr. Justice Bigelow in a libel action against the Chicago Herald and Examiner. A notice of appeal by Pat's lawyers was given on grounds that it was inadequate in view of the serious nature of the case and the wide publicity given it. The case was not defended.

He denied point blank the statement that there was dissension in the Cabinet. They were all working harmoniously.

KEEPING PROMISES

"We are putting our policies into effect as rapidly as possible," he said. The provincial police had been placed under the direction of the superintendent and had been removed from politics. The superintendent had the power to hire and discharge men in order to increase the efficiency of the service. The promise made in the election that in future tenders would be opened publicly had already been made effective. Every effort was being made to economize where a saving could be made, he said, but it was not the intention of the Government to be penurious whereby spending money public good could be accomplished.

"But we are having a survey made of the Government and it is almost complete, to see where we can shut off leaks," he added.

The Premier announced that in connection with the Department of Agriculture a marketing bureau would be established, which would aim at providing means for the disposal of farm products. Nothing, he said, would be of greater value in land settlement than the assurance that the crops would be sold.

THE PILGRIM

The other morning I was the witness of one of those pathetic little incidents which are only too common in the great human comedy which is London, says a Daily Chronicle writer. To a horse trough on the Embankment, close to the foot of Northumberland Avenue, came an old woman, probably not far short of seventy, and obviously of the "down and out" class. Without any apology she set about her toilet, carefully washing her face and hands, despite the bitterly cold weather. She produced a scrap of yellow soap from a shabby old bag she carried, together with what had probably been at one time a white handkerchief. She proceeded with her ablutions heedless of the glances of the passers-by, and presently she passed on her way with her face shining from the friction, and apparently on the best of terms with herself and the world in general.

SECOND STORM HITS BRITAIN; DAMAGE HEAVY

away from their bases by the gale, were subjects for anxiety. It was believed, however, that all these small craft managed to make port without loss of life.

SHIPPING IN TROUBLE

The fury of the gale was felt more strongly perhaps at sea and along the coast than in the interior. The Spanish steamer Catabria was driven ashore at Ayre, Isle of Man. A rocket brigade was standing by tonight and an attempt will be made to refloat the ship at high tide. The crew of twenty-five was reported in no danger.

The gale and sea had apparently taken an undetermined toll of life in the sinking of the steamer Herrenwyk off the Irish coast.

Fog, rather than wind, was blamed for the mishap of the Greek steamer Virginia, abandoned by its crew off Portugal. The crew was rescued by a Spanish trawler and landed at Oporto.

The Virginia tonight was reported under tow for Oporto.

The violence of the wind at the busy port of Southampton caused delay to several liners scheduled to depart. These included the Tuscania, bound for New York. The Majestic from New York was late in arriving.

HIS STIPULATION

The proprietor of the menagerie issued a placard offering £20 to anyone who would enter the cage of the lion. Towards the end of the performance a rustic walked up to the lion-tamer and said:

"Sir, I have come to earn that £20."

The audience was horror-stricken. The tamer replied with a derisive sneer:

"So you want to go in the lion's cage?"

"Of course," said the rustic.

"Come on, then. I will open the trap door for you and you can step in."

"But," said the countryman, "the beast must come out first, you know the paper only says: 'Anyone going into the cage gets £20.'"

OPINION ON TUBERCULOSIS AREAS DIFFERS

Farmers' Institutes, District "A," Convention, Refers Proposal for Restricted District to Committee

MEDICAL AID FOR ISOLATED SETTLERS

Delegates were asked at the convention of Farmers' Institutes, District A (Vancouver and adjacent Islands), held here yesterday, to express an opinion on the creation of a T.B. restricted area on Vancouver Island. A very full and detailed report on this subject had been prepared by Mr. C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, secretary of the Institute. The report, which was in itself a series of reports on the matter from all provinces of the Dominion, was outlined by Mr. E. W. Neel, president of the institute, and chairman of the meeting. Alberta, he said, advised delay in the matter, in view of the fact that the Dominion Research Department was on the verge of an experiment which would determine if T.B. could not be overcome by vaccination.

Mr. Allster Forbes emphatically opposed the resolution to create a T.B. area on the Island. He had been a dairyman himself in the Fraser Valley, and, in that locality "a T.B. area is not by any means looked upon as a salve-all for the dairy business." The owner of the grade herd, he said, had not yet got his house in order. "As far as establishing a T.B. area on Vancouver Island at the present time goes," he concluded, "I tell you it is all bunk."

The whole matter was finally turned over to a special committee, who will look into it in detail.

GAME REGULATIONS

Other items of interest at the meeting, which numbered over forty representative farmers and was the biggest that has formed a convention up to date, were the secretary's report, and the discussion which followed. The Game Conservation Board, upon which the institutes are represented, is about to be done away with, it appears, in favor of the new system of game enforcement, which will shortly come into operation.

MEDICAL FACILITIES

The institutes will press the House at the next session to take action in the matter of supplying medical facilities to farmers in outlying districts.

VISIT WORSTED MILL

Shortly after noon the convention adjourned for luncheon, which was held in the private dining-room of Messrs. David Spencer, Limited. After the luncheon, Mr. John Moore, managing director of the B.C. Worsted Mills, gave an address on the wool business and its relation to the producer of the raw material. Operations in the mills were one year in advance of the original schedule, he said, and he pointed out the extreme need for care on the part of the farmer in handling his fleeces before marketing them. Immediately after luncheon the members of the convention were taken on a tour of inspection over the worsted mills, and had an opportunity of seeing the latest modern devices in the weaving industry.

Conservatives of Sidney to Greet Premier Tolmie

The Conservatives of Sidney have in hand a function at the Agricultural Hall at Saanichton on Tuesday evening, November 27. On that occasion, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, the Premier of the province, and Mrs. Tolmie, will be the guests of honor, and there will also be present Colonel C. W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., member-elect for The Islands, and Mrs. Peck.

The event is being provided by the Conservative Association of Sidney, and will take the form of a dance, with cards for those who wish to enjoy that form of entertainment. There is a large number of prizes to be awarded in five hundred competition and a tombola contest.

During the evening supper will be served. It is anticipated that there will be a large turnout from The Islands and also from surrounding sections of Saanich.

"My dear," said Mrs. Hoskins to her daughter, "when you are at Mrs. Lumley's this afternoon, I hope you won't think of repeating that bit of gossip about Mrs. Johnson that Mrs. Wilde told us this afternoon."

"Why, mamma?"

"Well, because it would be ungenerous and unkind, and I don't think Mrs. Johnson would like it told; and, besides, I want to tell it to Mrs. Lumley myself."

Best Remedy for Obstinate Cough Made at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It also promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and at the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

FOREIGN TRADE IS ENCOURAGED

Dr. J. D. MacLean Asserts Policy of Dominion Government Has Been to Aid Export Business

SAYS CITY SHOULD HAVE LARGER SHARE

"The policy of the present Federal Government has been to encourage foreign trade, and millions of dollars have, in consequence, been spent on harbor improvements. But Victoria has not had its proper share; and so I shall tell the Federal ministers, who will visit this city shortly," Hon. J. D. MacLean, Liberal candidate for the forthcoming Federal election, told a large meeting of Ward Three of the Victoria Liberal Association, which met last night in the Sons of Canada Hall.

Dr. MacLean, who was introduced to the meeting by Mr. William Kinsman, president of the association, thanked the ward for its support in the recent election. Regarding the present campaign, he said that he was very well satisfied with the election as it appeared today, and, in speaking of the recent provincial defeat of the Liberal Party, he said that he thought that it was largely attributable to the failure of many of their supporters to come to the poll. Therefore, it was the duty of every citizen to vote at the forthcoming election.

VALUE OF HARBORS

Speaking of harbor improvement, Dr. MacLean said that one did not have to go farther than the harbors of the Pacific Coast, such as Portland, San Pedro, San Francisco, Seattle, New Westminster and Vancouver in order to see the advantages of a really first-class harbor. In regard to Vancouver, he said that there had been a 16 per cent increase of trade there last year, and 1,000 ocean-going ships had berthed there during the last ten months. "When you realize this," he said, "you can understand what a tremendous fillip to the business of a city is her prosperity as a port. Those who come from the East can see what natural advantages our harbors have over those on the Atlantic Coast, many of which are not navigable during three or four months of the year.

"What can we do to establish industries here?" he continued. "Go to the Old Land and you will find your answer. Look at Liverpool, Bristol and Newcastle. Nothing but their sea-going trade is responsible for their immense size and prosperity.

"Now I am taking an interest in Federal work, and I am going to use all my energy, and all the force which I have in store to develop the city that I hope to represent after December 6."

Speaking of the Australian treaty of 1923, Dr. MacLean claimed for the Liberal Party the policy of British preference, which came into force twenty-one years ago. "We felt," he said, "that it would be a more neighborly way of treating Old Grandmother England."

LUMBER EXPORT BUSINESS

The lumber business, he went on, was not in a very good shape at the present moment, but he had been told by a number of people connected with the lumber trade, that, if a treaty could be made with Australia whereby Canadian lumber would have a tariff preference, the lumber companies of British Columbia would be able to sell four hundred million feet of lumber to Australia annually, as compared with their present export of fifty million feet to that country, and that there would be four or five times as many mills in Victoria alone.

Canada, he said, with a population of less than ten million, took her place as the fifth greatest trading country today, being beaten only by Great Britain, the United States, France and Germany. Twelve years ago the Dominion had only ranked tenth on the list, and this alone, in his opinion, was a sure sign of increasing prosperity. Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, had said recently that he never saw Canada more prosperous, although he had crossed it once or twice a year for twenty years.

"In conclusion," said Dr MacLean, "I may say that any question that affects Victoria, or any person in Victoria, no matter of what political persuasion, will receive all my energy and attention if I am elected on December 6."

MR. MURRIN IS NEW PRESIDENT

Succeeds Mr. George Kidd as Executive Head of B.C. Electric — Late President Becomes Board Chairman

BOTH OFFICIALS WELL-KNOWN MEN

Changes in the executive offices of the B.C. Power Corporation, controlling organization of the B.C. Electric Railway and its subsidiaries, were announced yesterday, by which Mr. George Kidd, the president, has been transferred to the board of the B.C. Power Corporation as chairman of the directorate, and the vice-president, Mr. William George Murrin, is selected to succeed Mr. Kidd as president of the company.

Mr. Murrin's successor has not been announced. It is understood there will not be any change in the status of the vice-presidency for Island lines, which is held by Mr. A. T. Goward, who was in Vancouver for the meeting at which the announcements were made.

The retiring president is a chartered accountant by profession, who, since 1907, when he joined the B.C. Electric in London, England, as secretary, has been connected with the company, and has been in British Columbia since 1911. He came out as comptroller, and in 1914 succeeded Mr. R. H. Sperling as general manager, his position of president being created when the officers of the company were retitled in August, 1923.

MR. MURRIN

Mr. Murrin, the new president, is a native of London, England, who was born there in 1875, and educated at Finsbury Technical College. He was connected from 1903 to 1913, when he came to British Columbia, in succession with the City of London Electric Lightning Company, the Stockton & Middleton Tramways, and the London United Tramways, where he obtained the technical training which has been of great value to the B.C. Electric Railway.

His first appointment on arriving here was that of mechanical superintendent, holding that appointment for one year, when he became general superintendent, and in 1916, assistant general manager. When the offices were retitled in 1923, and the general manager became president, Mr. Murrin was appointed vice-president, with jurisdiction of Lower Mainland lines.

Mr. Murrin has taken a prominent part in the life of Vancouver in the last fifteen years. He was for several years president of the Returned Soldiers' Club, and also occupied the presidential chairs of the Vancouver Canadian Club, Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, Automobile Club of British Columbia and British Columbia Art League. He is also a member of the Jericho Country Club and Burnaby Golf and Country Club.

CHAMBER WILL MAKE INQUIRY

To Investigate Rule for Prohibition of Grilse Fishing in Two Waters in Winter Months

That orders had been received for the enforcement of Section 24, subsection 10 of the Dominion fisheries regulations, prohibiting grilse fishing in Saanich Arm and Cowichan Bay from January 1 to May 15, was the information presented to the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, at its luncheon yesterday.

Mr. George I. Warren stated that this was a serious matter for Victoria. For two or three years now the Publicity Bureau had featured grilse fishing as one of the Island's major Winter attractions, and this sport has proved popular with Winter visitors, many of whom have stated that they have especially come to Victoria because of this Winter sea fishing.

"This year, in one pamphlet alone, our Winter folder, 100,000 of which have been sent out, we stress grilse fishing as one of the sports that can be enjoyed here during the Winter months. This, by the way, is a sport which is not, I understand, obtainable elsewhere, and therefore is a peculiarly important asset to Victoria," he said.

The directors decided to appoint a committee to investigate the matter, Major Cuthbert Holmes, in sponsoring the motion, stating that fish taken out of Saanich Arm and Cowichan Bay could hardly cause any real damage to the salmon stock.

Grazing Lands

During the year 1927 there were in existence on Dominion lands in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and in the Peace River Tract an the Railway Belt in the Province of British Columbia, some 9,777 grazing leases covering an area of approximately 6,607,183 acres.

Returns received in the Department of the Interior for the year 1927 in connection with these leases indicate that 263,742 head of cattle, 127,782 horses, and 123,068 sheep, or all told, 514,592 head of livestock were pastured on lands covered by these Government leases.

Appeal Made to Aid Fisher Folk

In response to an appeal from a school teacher in a small northern fishing port which has experienced a bad season, the Victoria Women's Institute will hold a cast-off clothing and toy "shower" on Thursday, November 29, on behalf of the unfortunate settlers in this village. Anyone with suitable toys, garments, etc., is asked to communicate with the secretary, 1123 Esquimalt Road (phone 3954Y). Tea will be served to all bringing donations on the afternoon of the "shower."

At the last meeting of the institute Rev. W. J. Sippreil addressed the members on "World Peace and the League of Nations."

AN AIRPLANE TRAGEDY

Yesterday's airplane accident near the Landsdowne Road aerodrome in which Mr. Arthur Raybone was killed and Mr. V. Bendrodt injured, will evoke widespread sympathy. It was a Tacoma machine which crashed, brought here by Mr. Raybone, who was in Victoria on a short visit, and who, at the time of the accident, was engaged in an observation flight to see if the weather was suitable for the return trip to Tacoma. In his death under such tragic circumstances the sympathy of the entire community will go out to his widow and baby and to his father, Mr. E. Raybone, of this city. The injuries sustained by Mr. Bendrodt were serious enough and the shock must have been severe, but every hope is entertained that his recovery will be speedy. Both occupants of the Tacoma airplane had seen air service overseas. Whatever was the direct cause of the accident it may be safely inferred from the experience of those concerned that it was unlikely to have been an error of judgment.

A DOMESTIC ISSUE

One of the local issues in the Federal by-election campaign is the exodus of Victorians to the United States. That exodus during the past seven years has been going on steadily and is due to the vacillating fiscal policies of the Liberal Administration at Ottawa. It is simply a statement of fact to say that many hundreds, perhaps thousands of Victoria's families have had to part with their sons and daughters because no employment could be found for them in this community. In some cases whole families have been involved in the exodus. Southern California is liberally sprinkled with Victorians. Letters appearing in the local newspapers from these exiles from time to time always show a note of desire that some day they may be able to return to the homeland. Across the Straits, at Port Angeles, in Seattle, in various Washington communities, in Oregon and farther afield in the United States, there are hundreds of former residents of this city to be found earning a livelihood which was not available for them at home.

The exodus of Canadians is a local as well as a national issue. It touches the hearthstones of every community throughout the broad Dominion. It is an economic problem which the Government at Ottawa has made no attempt to solve. The Government, indeed, has been so callous over the matter that it has attempted to prove that it is a delusion and a myth; that it does not really exist, whereas its living evidences are found in thousands of foreign communities. The migration of our people has taken place during a period of post-war reconstruction. That reconstruction was ill-devised when, in a country of such resources as Canada, no steps were taken to prevent hundreds of thousands of our inhabitants from crossing the international boundary line. It is because industrial expansion here was not fostered to a sufficient extent that the means of employment were lacking. The native-born and British-born Canadians, French-Canadians as well, in far too great numbers, have had to leave the country in search of a livelihood. That in one of the outstanding commentaries on the ineptitude of the fiscal policies which has marked the course of the present Liberal Administration at Ottawa during its term of office.

There is no local issue which touches the homes of our people more closely in a domestic sense than that of the inadequacy of jobs to go round among families. We are inviting immigrants here in larger and larger numbers from Continental Europe—the percentage of foreigners now far transcends those being brought in of British blood—while at the same time no effort is being made to prevent the exodus of our own people, many of whom have been born here. There is a policy of cross-purposes at work and the responsibility rests on the Federal authorities. Victoria, if it reneges the Conservative faith will be condoning these fiscal policies which have made the exodus necessary. On the other hand this city will be registering a stern protest against the loss of population by electing the Conservative candidate on December 6.

PORTUGAL PULLS AROUND

Portugal has hitherto earned the reputation of being one of the least stable of the European nations. She has always been Britain's traditional ally, at least ever since the "Merry Monarch" married his Queen—Catharine of Braganza. Over and above sentimental attachment to the little country, however, is the important fact that Portugal has been no small borrower in the British market. It is fair to state that the Republic has not often defaulted in the repayment of loans, or at least the interest on them, and where she has, the arrears have invariably been met however belated the repayments may have been.

Money matters have always been a trouble to Portuguese finance ministers, and too frequently revolutions have been the outcome of faulty financial administration. It is therefore very satisfactory to learn that Portugal, for the first time since the establishment of the Republic in 1910, has a surplus of $75,000 on its budget of 1928-29. This is thanks to Oliviera Salazar, the Minister of Finance. After his failure to obtain a Government loan, Senhor Salazar appealed to the nation to save itself without foreign aid, and, having explained his aim, introduced the most rigid measures of economy. Although the present form of government is a military dictatorship, the army and navy were the first to feel the result of the retrenchment, with drastic cuts in pay. The axe was next applied to ministerial salaries, order and discipline were enforced, superannuated officials were compelled to retire, and superfluous workers were transferred from one department to another. A decree later prohibited Government employees from holding more than one job at a time.

An outcry followed these vigorous measures, but today Portugal regards Senhor Salazar as a great patriot and a benefactor of his country. With the balancing of its budget Portugal is entering on a new era, confidence is being restored and the people see that at last they have a Government honestly working for the good of the country. Agitation and unrest, consequent on the recent attempts to negotiate foreign loans, have died away. Further "measures of public salvation," as they are called, have been decreed, one of which touches every Portuguese, namely, a new tax on sugar, and a consequent rise in price. By it the Government hopes to secure about $2,500,000. Public opinion is much averse to the tax on one of the chief food products, but Salazar is persuaded of its necessity. Other items to be taxed are petroleum and gasoline, but the Government announces that as soon as possible the proposed imposts will be lightened, if not altogether abolished.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The Local Council of Women, a branch of one of the most outstanding women's bodies in the Dominion, is performing an active part in the life of the people. It is interested in most matters which deal with national, provincial and municipal welfare, and in these performs a most useful task in expressing the women's viewpoint. There is now an effort to get the local branch on a sound financial basis and one of the means employed is a tag day to be held today. This is an effort which has the cordial support of the various societies affiliated with the Local Council. A purpose of better finances is to enable the West to be better represented when the National Council holds conventions in the East. In other words, what is desired is to send an increased number of delegates so as to express in a broader way the opinions entertained by the women of this part of Canada. On the ground noted it is apparent that the tag day is for very laudable purposes and we feel sure it will meet with a ready response.

Many of the post-war disappointments there have been in Britain are put down by Mr. J. L. Garvin, of The London Observer, to the fact that there are now three political parties in the State. The House of Commons, he says, is not as vital as it was when Government was represented by a definite majority of the electors. When the House of Commons was the arena of combat between two sides it was "like cricket or football" and "harmonized deeply with British instinct." The question in politics, he says, is "whether the tripartite scuffle will go one; or whether the two-party system will re-emerge?"

LIFE AFTER DEATH

We know now that the earth goes round the sun, and that it was only the relativity of our position that made us fancy we were at rest and that the sun had a circular motion round us. This conventional view brings about relativity. Now reflect on the truth that applies to a great many other things besides the motion of the sun. It applies to our ideas on the great subjects of God, freedom and immortality. If the point of view that I have been putting is true, then we should rather think of the passing away of the world than of the passing away of our own minds. If space and time are relations belonging to the world which the mind has created, then the mind itself they cannot affect. I do not say we conceive a mind after death carrying on the sort of everyday existence which is carried on in this world. But I think the power of mind transcends time and space, and I regard death as an event which happens to the body, an event over which we triumph, and through which we feel ourselves at one with God.—S.T., in The Century Magazine.

THE WHITE COLLAR MEN

Everybody is out for a clean and well-dressed job. It is all due to a false sense of pride and of values. It is time we extolled the dignity of hod-carrying. Where would St. Paul's Cathedral be but for this great art? Menial toil should find its way more into our odes and romances. If we lionized the champion navvy or the champion coal-hewer a little more at the expense of the champion prize-fighter and the champion screen flapper, it would perhaps induce people to enter these noble crafts without a hurt to their dignity.—Huw Menai, in The Nation and Athenaeum.

TO AN AVIATOR

You who have grown so intimate with stars
And known their silver dripping from your wings,
Trod with the breaking day across the sky,
Known kinship with each meteor that swings—

You who have touched the rainbow's fragile gold,
Carved lyric ways through dawn and dusk and rain
And soared to heights our hearts have only dreamed—
How can you walk earth's common ways again?

—Daniel Whitehead Hicky in The Forum.

Knowledge is of two kinds: we know a subject ourselves, or we know where we can find information upon it.—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

A poet says "distance makes the heart grow fonder." Might one who has no poetic inspiration whatever be permitted to say that distance, when measured in years, makes the heart grow softer. Not one of those bouncing young reporters in the other room, with the heedlessness and callousness of youth, has any sentimental attachments whatever to any part of Victoria, whatever fleeting attachments any one of them may fancy he has to some of the most charming of the attractions on the streets of Victoria. We are not like that. We love the old places, and it pains us to see some of them visibly declining in prestige and business, and exhibiting signs of suffering ultimate eclipse.

Look at Johnson Street, and make a mental comparison between that down-at-the-heel thoroughfare of the present day and the Johnson Street of other days. For a time we feared that Government Street was doomed to go the way Johnson Street has gone and become but a ghost of the Government Street we remember. But when we look at Government Street today our heart rejoices. The old thoroughfare, like the old thoroughbred it is, is coming back. It is renewing its youth and appears to be destined to become more lusty than it was in the ancient days of the gold rush and thereafter. Johnson Street also, apparently following the example of its immediate neighbor, is displaying signs of increased life and vigor. We no longer despair of the business future of Johnson Street. It is not the celebrated bridge, which is not a thing of structural beauty whatever it may be in the sight of the utilitarian, that is creating the transformation. It is the general trend of business back to its old heart and centre.

Then consider the case of Fort Street. For a long time we despaired of the future of that historical old avenue of commerce. Lately there has been more activity in Fort Street properties than in the properties of most of the other streets of the city. It is not a speculative activity either. It is an activity based upon sound business judgment. One of these days Fort Street may be holding her head as high as busy and arrogant Yates and Douglas Streets. The destiny of Yates and Douglas Streets is assured. The destiny of old, neglected and despised Fort Street may still be in the lap of the gods, but the gods are young and confident, like the bouncing young reporters.

The truth of the matter is that in the case of the business parts of Victoria the inevitable is happening. For two or three years all the growth has been in the environments of the city. Oak Bay has been growing at a great rate. Saanich has been increasing in population at a correspondingly high rate. Esquimalt is the only district that has been languishing, for reasons that no one we know of can explain. All the settlements on Vancouver Island are increasing in population and prosperity, with the exception of those parts where coal mining is the basic industry—and hope is not dead in the hearts of the people interested in coal mining. Coal is not a perishable product. It will keep until the not far-distant day when men engaged in scientific researches restore it to the place it formerly occupied as one of the most valuable of natural products.

There are therefore legitimate reasons for the business heart of Victoria breaking bounds and sending the blood flowing back in all the old arteries and in some new arteries. The former limits served all purposes for a time; but they became too narrow and restricted to meet the new and increasing requirements. After considering late developments, we have arrived at the conclusion that Victoria has reached one of the most interesting periods of her history.

* * *

You have heard of the absorbing interest of the husbandman in watching the growth of his crops. That interest would be intensified if the husbandman were to discover that certain parts of his land, hitherto regarded as exhausted and sterile, were to display signs of renewed vitality. The "worked out" parts of Victoria are exhibiting signs of a new vitality. It is the renewal of life in those old parts that imparts interest to the present conditions in Victoria. We all like to see the new parts grow; but there is joy to the heart in watching the old parts come back to life and put forth shoots indicative of abounding vitality. There is a great deal of comfort to many people in the thought of a resurrection. There should be some consolation to many of the old people who have never lost confidence in the future of Victoria even under the most depressing circumstances in the increasing evidence that the old places they have known so long are displaying unmistakable signs of new business life.

THE ESSONDALE ADDITION

Sir,—The front page of our morning paper presents us with an extensive view of the great effort on the part of the Government to meet the further need of afflicted mental patients. As we gaze at this great barred palace, a feeling of sadness rather than gladness pervades our whole being. We think of the vast effort to collect into one spot all the poor sufferers of the Province, some of them hundreds of miles from any voice of love or the touch of a hand familiar to them, or any observant eye to note the treatment meted out to them. Much is needed to be done, as recent developments at some asylums show. Small psychopathic hospitals would go a great way to prevent the need of such a vast scheme of collection into one remote spot. Here, as in other reforms, we see the end met before beginnings are tackled. Psychopathic work would eradicate beginnings before that hopeless, devastating word "insane" is coupled with a patient's name, often with very little care or consideration of a case. We feel these great barred palaces, where we enfold all the mental anguish we can, will never be the ideal cure.

VICTORIA'S BY-ELECTION

Sir,—In bold type The Victoria Daily Times prints "Trade leaders combine to elect MacLean."

If the report of the meeting is correct, then I am inclined to think it must have been very disappointing. The names of the odd few attending were prominent Liberals who one could hardly expect would refuse.

There are many Conservatives who cannot understand why the late Premier would, if elected, be able to carry out work that he failed to do in his position as Premier with a large majority and a Liberal Government in favor in Ottawa. Surely if they would not listen to him as Premier, very little attention would be paid to his efforts as an ordinary member. This deathbed repentance will not fool the voters on December 6. Victoria has turned down two Premiers for the province, and one who is not now acceptable as the leader of the Opposition.

It was reported that a safe seat was offered to Dr. MacLean. It would be interesting to know why the Liberals refused to allow him to run, if Dr. MacLean, as he himself believes, can do such exceptional work for this city and province, if elected on December 6. Then one wonders why, with such a small number in opposition in the Provincial Legislature, the Liberals are so eager to shelve him on to the Dominion, and the province lose such a powerful advocate in provincial politics.

There is a nigger in the woodpile somewhere.

BY-ELECTION ISSUES

Sir,—In your issue of November 22, Mr. W. T. Straith is credited with having said he could not understand why Mr. Plunkett was importing so many speakers to deal with national issues which had been decided two years ago.

In the name of all that is "good and holy," what is the reason for the Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce; Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, and the Hon. J. H. King, Minister of National Health and Pensions, coming to the Coast to speak on behalf of Dr. MacLean, if there are not national issues? I take it for granted the said gentlemen have such magnetic powers, charming personalities and winning smiles that they will be able to influence the ladies to vote for Dr. MacLean on December 6.

It is true that the electors of British Columbia as a whole decided the issues two years ago by only sending one Liberal to Ottawa, Hon. J. H. King. We are given to understand by Dr. MacLean that this by-election is purely a local campaign. If that is a fact, why bring the Australian treaty before the electors at this by-election, that being a national issue?

In passing, the Mackenzie King Government being in power at Ottawa, why is it they do not bring down legislation to make said treaty more effective, if it is in the interest of the country as a whole, and not draw it as a red herring across the trail at this by-election?

The principal reason given by your contemporary why the electors should support Dr. MacLean at the forthcoming by-election, is because he will have more influence at Ottawa to get something done for this port, by virtue of the fact that he will be a supporter of the Mackenzie King Government.

It would be very interesting to the electors of the city of Victoria to know what Dr. MacLean did for the port of Victoria during the twelve years of prosperity we have enjoyed under the regime of the late Provincial Government, considering that he held the portfolio of Minister of Education and then became the Premier of British Columbia. I ask any unbiased person, is it reasonable to suppose, considering he was the Premier of British Columbia and had all the weight of the Province behind him, so to speak, he could not make any impression on the Government at Ottawa, that he can accomplish anything by going down there as a lone member?

There is certainly more at stake at this by-election than a purely local campaign. Those of your readers who have taken any interest in the Canadian National Railways know this. They know that it was the Mackenzie King Government that hired Sir Henry Thornton at $65,000 per annum and put him in charge. Premier W. L. Mackenzie King has stated on more than one occasion in public that there are no politics attached to the Canadian Government-owned railway system; that Sir Henry Thornton has a free hand. Considering the Ogden Point docks come under the jurisdiction of the Canadian National Railways system, the question arises, that being a fact, what is the reason your pious contemporary tells its readers that the only way the electors of Victoria can get any results for this port is by voting for Dr. MacLean at the forthcoming election? If Sir Henry Thornton has a free hand in running the Canadian National Railways system, it certainly savors of bribery and corruption. To sum it up in a nutshell, the issue before the electors at the forthcoming by-election is: Are they in favor of bribery and corruption in public life in Canada, and the citizens as a whole being treated with contempt?

THE CROW

Sir,—I note that the crow has been a subject of articles in your columns recently, and am submitting further information which should be of interest, taken from "Birds of Western Canada," Museum Bulletin No. 41, by P. A. Taverner, who is one of the greatest living authorities on bird life.

"P. 259. American Crow—on the Coast is the Northwestern Crow, Corvus brachyrhynchos caurinus.

"Economic Status—The economic status of the crow is a much argued question. Sentimental enthusiasts and some cautious agricultural investigators regard it as a valuable species; others, perhaps equally prejudiced in the opposite direction, refuse to admit any good in the black robber. The actual fact probably lies within these extremes. . .

"As an egg-eater and a young bird destroyer, the crow is probably the very worst enemy of some of our largest and most useful wild birds. Throughout the Spring and early Summer, before the grasshoppers are out in numbers, the crow in the West makes its worst showing, and one that, in the eyes of many, cancels all the good it may do at other times. In the itemised tables given by Mr. Kalmbach (Bulletin No. 621, United States Department of Agriculture, 1918), animal matter other than insects and carrion constituted over 10 per cent of its food for May, June and July. In this, however, no account can be taken of the enormous number of eggs consumed during this time, as they seldom leave any record in the crop or stomach for subsequent recognition. Field observations show that crows destroy an astonishingly large proportion of the eggs of waterfowl and upland game. . . .

"However good the crow may be as an insect destroyer, it is doubtful if it can, in this direction, replace the birds that it supplants. . . .

"Altogether, in the view of the writer (P. A. Taverner, author) the crow is pretty nearly as black as he is painted. . . .

"Certainly there is no call to protect the crow. It is wary, adaptive, intelligent, and well able to survive if every man's hand is turned against it."

The above extracts from a long and well reasoned article, can be confirmed from my own personal observation in Beacon Hill Park, where I have seen Mr. Crow alight on the ground with one or more naked fledgelings in his bill and gobble them up; these being the young of our songsters and garden pest destroyers. Small wonder our gardens are so badly infested and the sprayer in steady operation.

FACTS VERSUS APPEAL

Sir, — Asking consideration for space in your columns, I cannot refrain from commenting upon the broadcast rhapsodies of Mr. Clearihue in behalf of his political associate, Dr. MacLean. I was under the impression that Mr. Clearihue was of the legal profession and not of the business world, only as its advocate in an advisory and protective sense. It has ever been an advised axiom that ignorance of the law is no excuse. Then why controversial and, most emphatically, why an appeal? If as so ably defined by those orators and by Dr. MacLean himself that the present issue is purely local, then, as a matter of fact, the voters of Victoria hardly considered him the great administrator that he is heralded as by his friends, therefore, why an appeal from fact?

On page 332, chapter ix, of a work entitled "How to Become a Party Leader," we find that hybridism is the last resort of a discredited party, yet we find Mr. Mackenzie King placidly sailing down the protective streams of Ontario and Quebec with his T.N.T. free trade policy safely battened in its hold as freight for other parts, while his hybrid associate, Mr. Forke, is pulling up stream the frail craft of Free Trade, probably laden with promises of cheaper machinery manufactured by our own sons in the United States, and cheaper labor from the marshes (human) of Europe. "No British need apply."

The great development of Canada is due to the energy of its people in a land of wonderful resources. The constant lowering of its trade balances is assuredly due to this present hybrid administration. We in British Columbia, under a hybrid Liberal regime, and I think that Dr. MacLean, as one of its administrators at the time, will concur, saw chaos and maladministration reign under the discordant notes of hybridization.

Metaphorically speaking, Canada may be likened to a purebred Jersey, fed, attended and milked by its people, and after dairying the product, through the many unprotected avenues left open by our administrators, far-sighted business men below the forty-ninth parallel with their separators not only abstract the butterfat from our products, but inveigh away our sons, the bone and sinew of our land, leaving us childless with skim milk as a diet. How dismal to hear a mother in her loneliness chant that sad refrain, "Oh, Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

Be the present issue either local of Federal, the vital chord is the same. Protection to the wealth-giving development of our resources by our own people. No successes are ever attained through specious promises, but by energy and undivided effort, and he who endeavors to obtain consideration through and by such specious promises is hardly worthy of attention.

DIVERSION OF ROAD OPPOSED

Chamber of Commerce to Urge Government to Complete West Coast Highway as Originally Planned

DUNCAN PROPOSAL IS NOT ENDORSED

Appointment of a committee to wait upon the Provincial Government and press for the completion of the West Coast Road on Vancouver Island as originally planned, was the action taken by the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday at their luncheon meeting.

The matter of the West Coast Road was brought before the body in a request from the Duncan Chamber of Commerce for support of a proposal to divert the West Coast Road from Port Renfrew to Cowichan Lake.

Mr. Claude L. Harrison said that Banfield Creek was the only logical terminus of the West Coast Road. While a road through the centre of the Island would be beautiful for a year or two, it would soon be ruined by logging operations. "Thank goodness they can't take the sea away on the sea coast."

The speaker recalled that both political parties had promised to support the West Coast Road, that they were committed to it, and efforts should be made to see that it was carried through as originally planned. The West Coast Road would mean a permanent future for Victoria and the southern end of the Island, he declared.

Mr. Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., said he thought diverting the road from Port Renfrew to Cowichan Lake would prove detrimental to the trade of Victoria with the West Coast. The road, he said, was originally intended as a benefit for the south end of the Island.

"I think we should oppose this proposal from Duncan, and should press the Government for continuation of the project as originally contemplated," Mr. Hayward stated.

The chamber decided, upon a motion by Mr. J. L. Beckwith and Mr. R. H. B. Ker, that it could not in the best interests of the city support the Duncan proposal, and that it should itself urge the Government to continue the West Coast Road along the original surveyed route.

MR. PATTERSON IS APPOINTED

Becomes First Municipal School Inspector of Saanich District

Mr. J. M. Patterson, Public School Inspector, has been transferred from the staff of departmental inspectors under the Department of Education, and has been appointed Municipal Inspector of Schools for the Municipality of Saanich.

It had been thought at one time that some other municipality might join forces with Saanich in the matter of having a municipal inspector. Esquimalt and Oak Bay were each approached by the Saanich School Board, but without success, and Inspector Patterson will act therefore for Saanich alone.

The selection of the inspector is made by the School Board of Saanich, with the approval of the Education Department.

Saanich is the first municipality of less than 100 divisions in the school to adopt the system of having a separate inspector.

Mr. Patterson is a native of Ontario. He has been a member of the provincial staff of school inspectors for ten years, and for nearly seven years has been in charge of schools in Nanaimo district. Prior to his service at Nanaimo he supervised schools in Prince Rupert district.

The initial salary attached to the new post will be $3,400 annually, and the appointment will not be revocable by the municipality.

Sick Man Taken To Prison and Brutally Used

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Corporal Frank S. Hobson, of the San Francisco police department, was charged yesterday with unofficerlike conduct in connection with the death in the city prison Saturday of John Lynch, British war veteran. Lynch, taken to the prison as a "drunk" suspect, died there of bronchial pneumonia and complications.

Captain Michael Riordan, who conducted an investigation of circumstances surrounding the veteran's death, preferred the charges.

Hobson was charged with neglect of duty in that he failed to provide medical aid when it was requested by the prisoner. He was accused of unofficerlike conduct in having used his foot to turn Lynch's head when the sick man was lying in front of the prison booking desk.

The British Government took official cognizance of the case today when Gerald Campbell, British Consul-General, filed a request with the chief of police for an investigation and report on Lynch's death. Lynch was wounded eight times while serving with British troops in France during the war.

WARMTH OF SEA USED IN PLANT

M. GEORGES CLAUDE, EDISON OF FRANCE, FINDS NEW SOURCE OF POWER

For Use in Tropics but Tested by Installation in Belgium—Plans for Cuba

By JOHN W. LOWE

(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 23.—Fuel technologists who have been spending the week in international conference here on the utilization of coal, took the evening off to hear a lecture by Georges Claude, "the French Edison," whose inventions are capitalized well toward $200,000,000. They expected a dissertation on the methods of inventing. Claude gave them that, but he quietly informed them also that he is planning to build near Havana, Cuba, a 12,000-kilowatt power plant which uses neither the energy of coal nor falling water, but extracts it from the sea; that it will compete with the cheapest hydro-electric power stations, and that it is capable of "completely transforming living conditions in the tropics."

When the first intimations of Claude's latest project became public two years ago, they met with the greatest skepticism, and only his record with Neon lights, liquid air, synthetic ammonia, and acetylene saved him from ridicule at that time. Today a plant is in operation in Belgium.

Claude's turbine utilizes the difference in temperature between the water at the ocean surface and the water at the bottom. This difference will amount to 35 or 40 degrees in warm climates, and it is as valuable for power purposes, he declared, as water falling 300 feet.

His turbine will be run by steam generated in a vacuum from the warm water of the surface. If the exhaust of the vacuum is great enough, the water will boil without being heated any further, as high school students know. Steam from such a boiler, Claude says, will turn a turbine. The partial vacuum is to be created by condensation effected by cool water pumped up from the ocean depths. His plant can be erected, he said today, for $60 per installed kilowatt size, capable of 1,000,000-kilowatt size, the Niagara rate, but it must be near water two miles deep.

Twenty-three factories in Germany are producing rubber tires.

PLAIN WARNING IS HANDED OUT BY MR. BALDWIN

Industrial Parasites to Be Tolerated No Longer, Conservatives of Glasgow Are Told

WORLD IN MIDST OF REVOLUTION

GLASGOW, Nov. 23.—"We are in the midst of an industrial revolution as important as that of a century ago, but very different in its nature; and the end of it no man can foretell," Premier Baldwin made this declaration during a striking speech before an audience of 6,000 persons last night. The gathering was in connection with the Scottish Conservative conference, and the British Premier delivered some striking statements regarding British industry.

"British industry is justifying itself in the face of all the countries in the world," the Premier said. "This is no time for incompetents, whatever their age. Joint stock companies have large numbers of men connected with the management and directors who are nothing but parasites.

"At a time when hundreds of thousands are being thrown out of work by rationalization of industry, the country will never watch with tolerance managers and directors who give themselves a position of freehold, and who will not for the sake of rationalization remove themselves, unless they are bribed."

Touching on European affairs, the Premier said that the statesmen of Europe, instead of hurling dispatches at one another, had now become accustomed to meet in friendly discourse. It had taken the war to teach European statesmen the lessons of childhood—to give and take.

NORTHERN ONTARIO LAKE HAS ODD NAME

Lac des Mille Lacs Is a Body of Water Studded With Hundreds of Islands

Lac des Mille Lacs, meaning in English "Lake of the Thousand Lakes" is the strange name of a large body of water some sixty miles northwest of Port Arthur, in the Thunder Bay district, Ontario. If a map of the region is examined, according to the Geographic Board of Canada, it will be observed that the lake is studded with islands. In fact, Arrowsmith, who made maps for the Hudson's Bay Company, calls the lake "Thousand Islands Lake," on maps which he published in 1846 and in 1854. However, on the map which he prepared in 1865 to illustrate the report of the Palliser Expedition to Western Canada he placed the name lac des Mille Lacs. The curious thing is that the report itself relates how the explorers entered the "Lake of the Thousand Isles" at five o'clock on June 25, 1857 and next day continued their way along the lake threading among its thousand islands. The report adds that "the islands are composed of rounded masses of granite rock, but little elevated above the lake."

From the foregoing facts, the natural conclusion would seem to be that the name, lac des Mille Lacs was originally a misprint for "lac des Mille Iles," overlooked by subsequent map makers. However fuller investigation shows that the name, lac des Mille Lacs, occurs much earlier than 1846, for records of the North West Company of 1802 and David Thompson's map made in 1813-14 show that it was the name then generally in use. For what reason this name was used has not, up to the present, been discovered by the Geographic Board of Canada.

Four Are Killed Near Spokane in Crash

FOUR persons were killed and two injured when a Ford trimotor monoplane, recently purchased by Mr. S. J. Wilson, president of the Northwest Mines Investment Company, crashed to the ground near Spokane yesterday during foggy weather. The above is a picture of the plane that now lies a total wreck as a result of the accident. It was purchased by Mr. Wilson at a cost of $51,000 and he arrived in it from Detroit only last Wednesday. Mr. Wilson is well known in financial circles here, having been a recent visitor to Victoria and having several agencies here. The plane turned over three times after it crashed, according to information received by Mr. R. F. Castle, of R. F. Castle & Company, of Victoria. Mr. Castle recently made a trip to Vancouver in a plane piloted by Mr. Wilson.

ACCOUNTING OF REVENUE URGED

MR. C. L. HARRISON SAYS ISLAND IS NOT RECEIVING SUFFICIENT RETURNS

Compensation Due From Government for Money Contribution, Chamber Speakers Assert

That Vancouver Island should ascertain what it pays annually into the British Columbia treasury, and what it gets back in expenditures on roads, public works, etc., was the suggestion advanced by Mr. Claude L. Harrison at yesterday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors.

Mr. Harrison said the necessity of taking careful account of the amount of revenue derived by the province from Vancouver Island's timber resources was a matter of tremendous importance. He contended that the Island was not receiving sufficient returns from its contributions to the Government, and that a considerable amount of money from the Island's timber resources was being utilized in keeping the Province's credit good in such matters as the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and other large projects.

"If any deal is made with the P.G.E., we should see that we get a share of the money obtained in the sale proportionate to what Vancouver Island has paid into the Provincial Treasury," Mr. Harrison asserted.

"The timber of the Island is fast disappearing; let us take definite action before our forests have gone downhill too far," the speaker urged.

Mr. James H. Beatty, M.P.P., said he could see nothing but merit in Mr. Harrison's proposal. "It behooves us all to stand up for Victoria and Vancouver Island," he said.

Captain George McGregor, in supporting the suggestion, remarked that the greatest proportion of timber cut on the Coast was from Vancouver Island. It should be placed on record the amount of money which passes into the treasury of the Province through the Island's timber resources, he said.

On the motion of Reeve William Crouch, Mr. Harrison's proposal was laid on the table, and will be fully considered at the chamber's next meeting.

Evidences of Ancient Race Are Disclosed

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—Evidence of the history of a race which lived in Mimbres Valley, in New Mexico, centuries ago, and which, as far as the evidence shows, apparently vanished about 700 years ago, was given by Dr. Albert E. Jenks, chairman of the department of Anthropology at the University of Minnesota in a lecture at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts.

Dr. Jenks reported to members of the institute on the findings of its expedition into the Mimbres Valley last Summer, which he headed. The mysterious race studied is estimated to have lived in the valley from about the time of Christ until about 700 years ago.

Dr. Jenks told of the finding of beautiful pieces of pottery of strange design; of stone and adobe houses, built one layer upon another; of fireplaces built in the floors of houses and of peculiar burial customs.

"Nearly all of the pottery found in the excavations we made were 'kill' pieces," said Dr. Jenks. "That is, each one had a small hole broken into its bottom before being buried with a dead person.

"The name 'kill' has been given these mutilated pieces because of the belief that the people who used them broke them to kill them so that the spirit of the vessel, supposedly the favorite of the person with whom it was buried, might leave the vessel at the same time the dead person's spirit left his body."

The expedition, which sought skeleton remains for the university, as well as pottery for the art institute, worked by finding traces of house walls on the surface of the ground, and then excavating to the floor level.

The bodies were found buried just below the adobe floors. In nearly every case, a bowl, with its bottom punctured, was found placed over the cranial bones of the skeleton.

"In one bowl," said Dr. Jenks, "we found what we believed was ground corn contained in a vessel and buried beneath an overturned bowl. All the members of the party tasted the material. Just a few days ago a chemistry test completed at the university, revealed that the material was burned bone tissue. It was the first case of the cremation of a body found in the valley."

Compton Mackenzie, the Scotch novelist, is learning Gaelic.

Fur Trade Talk—Addressing school pupils as speaker for the Canadian Club, Mr. M. B. Jackson, K.C., has delivered a series of discourses this week on the theme "The Fur Trade and Its Influence on the Development of the West." The entrance classes at the public schools have heard Mr. Jackson picture the early days of the fur traders, and show how the search for fur led to the progress of Western Canada. The speaker surrounded his historical facts with a wealth of detail of pioneer life which gripped the attention of his young audiences.

Engagements Cancelled — Rev. John Buchanan, D.D., Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who was to have been tendered a public reception this afternoon by the Presbyterians of the city, in St. Andrew's Church, and was to have spoken in several of the churches on Sunday, has been stricken with an attack of malaria in Vancouver. His attending physician will not permit him to leave his room for several days. For that reason all Dr. Buchanan's engagements in Victoria have had to be cancelled.

Mayor Convinced That New Nurses' Home Is Urgently Needed

Referring to the by-law which is to be voted on by the taxpayers of the city on December 16, asking for $100,000 toward the new Nurses' Home at the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, Mayor J. Carl Pendray has made the following comment to The Colonist:

"After visiting the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital this week and looking over the section at present occupied by the nurses, I am surprised to discover what a great handicap the nurses are working under. They are very badly overcrowded, with lack of even ordinary comforts in the way of accommodation, and they must be laboring under great disadvantage. Efficient work cannot possibly be done by young women living under such conditions, or, if they are giving a number one service in their profession, it is wonderful testimony to their spirit and sense of duty.

"The building itself needs considerable reconditioning before it can be used for patients. I feel that it is absolutely necessary that the request of the Hospital Board of Directors should be considerable reasonable when the mattetr comes to be voted on. If the citizens knew the state of affairs as they really exist in the nurses' quarters at the hospital they would get behind the directors' request and carry the by-law with a solid vote."

THE LITTLE YELLOW CAT

A secret, foolish as can be,
Is this: The little cat
That sits across the hearth from me
Is something more than that.
Is something more than silken fur
And shining, golden eyes.
A voice that greets me with a purr,
A look that's calm and wise.
He spreads contentment through the room
With just his tranquil air,
For how could I be plunged in gloom,
And he so debonair?
So, coming home at long day's end,
Just when life might seem flat,
I'm gladdened by my hearthside friend,
The little yellow cat.

FERNIE MINE STANDS ALONE

B.C. COAL MINE COMPANIES OPPOSE PROPOSAL OF CROW'S NEST CO.

Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) and Western Fuel Corporation Oppose Request

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—Institution of regional tariff provisions to meet the peculiar handicaps of coal and coke interests in different parts of the Dominion, was advocated before the Tariff Advisory Board today. This proposal was made by W. R. Wilson, president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. of Fernie, B.C., who is seeking removal of the existing customs duty of 50 cents a ton on bituminous coal.

Today's hearing, however, brought into direct opposition to this suggestion operators in British Columbia who urged retention of the tariff as a safeguard against serious United States competition. The opposing briefs were filed by the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., Western Fuel Corporation of Canada, and Granby Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., supported by the mine workers of Merco and Cadomin in Alberta.

A movement for a state lottery has been started in South Africa.

Daytime Fashions Feminized

WITH slinky drapable fabrics such as the various velvets and even velveteen at the command of the couturier, afternoon attire grows more highly feminine in character. An opportunity is extended womankind to indulge freely in fashions more interpretive of their sex than for many a long day.

Collars, skirts and even sleeves go in for all manner of complexities to arrive at the lode-star of distinction.

The afternoon dress from Louise Boulanger created from the richness of panne velvet adopts the two tier skirt. But this is shirred rather full with a novel scalloped border which is repeated as an edging to the snug swathed girdle.

Even this sleeve departs from the customary tight type to the extent unadorned. Scallops and long tie ends echo the drapery note in the collar line.

Softly crushed revers and drooping skirt of pointed side flares enhance the color charm of the afternoon coat Jeanne Lafitte has created from golden beige velveteen and mink.

Completing this coat as an ensemble is a georgette frock in the same golden hue, its skirt fulness acquired by means of carefully arranged box pleats.

Ties and bows now soften sports severity, and add to the hardy tweed and other wools a slightly whimsical touch. Yokes serve a purpose both at the shoulder and hip for the placing of pleats and fulness. Necklines are conveniently variable, the square and the round approved as well as the V and the diagonal line.

A jumper matching kerchief finishes the neck of this sports dress of novelty from Louise Boulanger, the jumper trimmed with maroon jersey and completed with a skirt in a brown and white check.

The proceeds, which were in aid of the church, amounted to $205.

THREE DRIVERS ARE CONVICTED

Motorists Pay Court Fines for Driving Their Automobiles to Common Danger on Nov. 18

Three motorists, Edward W. Henley, William Pollard and W. A. Cameron, were fined by Magistrate George Jay in the city police court yesterday for driving their automobiles to the common danger.

Henley was convicted of a traffic offence on Fairfield Road on the night of November 18. Motorcycle Constables Percy Richards and Peris Atkinson both testified that the defendant drove his motorcar across the intersection of Moss Street and Fairfield Road at a speed of between thirty-five and forty miles an hour. The accused called a witness, John T. Parker, and both testified that the car was not going more than twenty miles an hour at the time. Henley was found guilty and fined $20.

A fine of $20 was imposed on William Pollard, who pleaded not guilty to driving his car to the common danger on November 18, on Fort Street. Constable Richards told the court that Pollard was driving at forty miles an hour.

W. A. Cameron was fined $30 for an offence on Gorge Road on November 18. Constable Atkinson said that the defendant was driving his automobile at a speed exceeding fifty miles per hour.

A further remand was granted Robert Watson, who is charged with breaking and entering a house and committing theft, and also with supplying liquor to a minor. The case was adjourned until Monday, when a definite date for the hearing will be set.

Sixteen Chinese, who were charged with being inmates of a common gaming house, were each fined $10 and $1 costs by the magistrate. Mr. M. B. Jackson, K.C., was the defending counsel.

The case of Ernest Haegi and Mabel Driver, charged with keeping liquor for sale, was remanded for one week. Mr. Richard C. Lowe is counsel for both accused.

Constable W. H. Hadley, of the B.C. Provincial Police, related the circumstances to the court.

REV. S. R. ORR'S TRIAL AT END

MAGISTRATE RESERVES DECISION ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT PREFERRED

Evidence of Accused Described as Impossible to Believe—Not in Normal State

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—Declaring that he could not accept the evidence of the accused and therefore must weigh the evidence of the other witnesses, Police Magistrate J. A. Findlay today reserved decision until November 30 in the case of Rev. S. Robertson Orr, charged with assaulting and attempting to detain Harold B. Robertson, K.C., in a local hotel on November 17.

The magistrate said Orr had gone to J. S. McKay, a barrister, and told him a falsehood, giving him to understand that he had arranged a meeting with Mr. Robertson, while Robertson had agreed to meet a "Mr. Arwell."

"Orr had claimed in the box that his assuming the name of 'Arwell' in taking the hotel room was justified," the magistrate continued. "There is no law against it. There is no law against lying.

"In the witness box he contradicted nearly everyone. He contradicts McKay, his own witness.

"The story told by him is impossible. No normal person who heard what took place could say his story was a correct one.

"I do not wish to convey the impression that Mr. Orr came down here and deliberately lied.

"He was not in a normal condition. Not in a normal condition for several days before the occurrence and not in a normal condition when he was in the witness stand yesterday."

Premier Declares Hungary Not Ready To Elect Monarch

BUDAPEST, Nov. 23. — Premier Bethlen caused great surprise and disappointment throughout Hungary by declaring at a banquet of Liberal leaders last night that the question of a king must be put emphatically in the background. He said the country had other things to do.

The throne of Hungary has been vacant since the abdication in 1918 of the late King Charles. Premier Bethlen, on October 14, said that the country would soon hold a referendum to select a king.

A few days later a dispatch from Rome to the Budapest newspaper Testi Norlap quoted Premier Mussolini of Italy as being utterly opposed to the restoration of the Hungarian throne.

James Waddell Leaves Fortune To Housekeeper

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Nov. 23 (Canadian Press Cable). — Janet Ormiston, spinster, who for many years was a faithful housekeeper to James Waddell, reaps a huge reward for her services in the residue of the estate, amounting to $1,500,000, bequeathed by Waddell. Waddell, keen student and lover of books and birds, and an enthusiastic antiquarian, visited Kingston, Ont., every year, where he has four cousins, named Macnee, Waddell, Minne and Richmond. To these he bequeathed $500 each. He died last April at the age of seventy-six years.

Miss Ormiston lives in a mansion in Glasgow, where Waddell usually lived, which is also bequeathed to her. She declines to comment on her windfall. Her family are farming in the County of Berwick.

NEW CATHEDRAL SHOWN IN SERIES OF CHRISTMAS CARDS

In response to requests for photographs of the new cathedral at its present height, made by some who wished to send them to relatives and friends overseas, the Young People's committee has issued a series of Christmas cards, which give excellent views of the building.

Two very attractive cards show the north side of the cathedral, with the pioneer cemetery park in the foreground and the old cathedral tower at the extreme right. Another card, prepared specially for boys and girls, contains a remarkable photograph taken from the top of the cathedral tower. This view gives a vivid impression of the size of the new building, and showing clearly the flying buttresses and the baptistery, the width of the west front, and the extent of the south aisle. Part of the Memorial Hall is also shown, with the residential section of the city rising in the background and the heights of Victoria College on the horizon.

Local photographers are responsible for the views, and the printing has been done by The Colonist Printing & Publishing Company. The cards are on sale today at local booksellers' shops and at the department stores. The co-operation of all concerned in the production and sale of the cards is gratefully acknowledged by the Young People's and Children's committee for the new cathedral, whose funds for the completion of the baptistery windows will profit by the proceeds of their purchase.

Catholic Women to Hold Bazaar

The November meeting of the Victoria subdivision of the Catholic Women's League was held on Wednesday evening in the library of the Bishop's House, Mrs. J. B. Plumb, president, in the chair. The report of the secretary was read, in the absence of Mrs. O'Neill by Mrs. de Blaquiere; Mrs. S. Hunter, treasurer, also gave a satisfactory statement on finances. Mrs. Plumb reported the social service activities in the absence of Miss H. O'Brien, and for hospital visiting. The visitors for the ensuing month will be Mrs. W. W. Baines and Mrs. Plumb. Mrs. Blair Reid reported for the card party held at the home of Mrs. K. T. Hughes and Mrs. Hunter was thanked for the prizes and a letter of thanks sent to Mrs. Attward.

The candidacy of Mrs. Crocker for aldermanic honors was announced by the president, who explained that the Local Council of Women was endorsing Mrs. Crocker. Mrs. J. L. Thompson spoke at some length on the work of the parents in connection with improvements in the boys' school. It was also announced that a card social will be held on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Fletcher for the funds of the Welfare Club.

An invitation to attend a silver tea on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock at Devonshire House was sent to the members by Mrs. Wytheman, who has as her conveners Miss H. O'Brien and Mrs. Harrington, of Hong Kong. It was decided to hold the December meeting on December 12 instead of on the third Wednesday. Mrs. K. T. Hughes, as convener of education for the Victoria sub-division, spoke on the importance of members exercising their privilege of the franchise in connection with the by-law governing technical schools.

Mrs. Hughes also referred to the historic book, "Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island," which has just been produced through the efforts of the Women's Canadian Club. A generous chapter has been devoted to the pioneer work of the sisters of St. Ann, and pictures of Mother May Providence are included, making it of particular interest to members of the Catholic Women's League. Reference was made to the recent high honors won by pupils of St. Ann's Academy in the prize essay competition on fire prevention; Druscilla O'Neill winning first prize among all Victoria High School students.

The three prizes in the lower grades were also won by pupils of St. Ann's; Janet Sturrock, first; Bernadette Colbert, second, and Kathleen Burns, third. Acknowledgement of their success was made to the children by Mrs. J. A. J. McKenna, diocesan convener of education.

Final arrangements for the forcoming bazaar to be held in the showrooms of the Begg Motor Company, on November 30 and December 1, were discussed. The scheme of decoration is to be left to the wishes of stallholders: Mrs. J. B. Plumb as general convener will have as her assistants in charge of the various booths: Mrs. J. L. Thompson, fancywork; Mrs. S. Hunter, plain sewing; Mrs. Bridges, art stall; Mrs. W. W. Baines, twenty-five cents stall; Mrs. Cannon, home cooking; Mrs. Ouilette, refreshments; Mrs. Costello, fish pond; Knights of Columbus, bingo; Children of Mary, candy stall; Y.M.I., soft drinks. Another attraction is the three-tier Christmas cake donated by Mrs. Sweeney. Each of the stalls will have a number of valuable prizes displayed and the usual attractions, afternoon tea and games, promise an interesting two days' Christmas shopping to all comers.

The Blouse Made for Evening

PLEASANT informal evenings when the commuter joins her husband in town for dinner and the theatre frequently find her slightly disconcerted because she is entirely too tailored for perfect assurance in a bevy of formal attire.

The decollete dress and the business suit never have been exactly compatible. They have evoked endless criticism from the strict and conscientious adherents to form and the fine points of the fitness of things.

Now the tailleur may be worn with an evening blouse which frankly recognizes the dressiness requisite after 6 p.m. It is shown in many versions of metal cloth and velvet, with long sleeves or short.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CLUB

The Young People's Club of the First United Church held its weekly meeting Monday evening. Mr. W. T. Straith, local barrister, gave an address on "The Opportunities for the Youth of British Columbia." Mr. Straith told of the four basic industries—lumbering, mining, fishing and farming—and urged the young people to interest themselves in one of these. Furthermore, the speaker emphasized the superior opportunities for advancement in Canada, "opportunities which some foreigners will grasp if the native sons do not."

Airplane of Today Will Be Kite of the Future

Aviation on Threshold of Era of Development of Almost Undreamed-of Magnitude, Rickenbacker Tells Members of U.S. Congress

By JOSEPH S. EDGERTON

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 23. — Aviation is on the threshold of an era of development of almost undreamed of magnitude, Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker told members of Congress, Government aviation leaders and Washington business men last night at a meeting called by the Board of Trade to boost construction of a model airport for the national capital.

With two or three years speeds of 400 to 450 miles per hour will be realized and the present 100-mile-per-hour transport plane will be as obsolete as a five-year-old automobile is today. The captain predicted that aviation within a few years will become the biggest industry in the world and every hamlet and village will become a port on the ocean of air.

"Passengers, mail, parcels post, express and light freight are going from the steamships and the railroads into the air," said Captain Rickenbacker.

HUGE PLANES PLANNED

"The airplanes of today are mere kites in comparison with the airplanes of tomorrow. Germany is building planes with twelve motors of 500 horsepower each, which are capable of flying on seven of those motors, leaving five in reserve. The planes will have a cruising range of 5,000 miles. They can cross the oceans in perfect safety. The Graf Zeppelin is the largest dirigible in the world today, but the United States navy has contracted for two twice her size and, if the size of dirigibles can double between models, who can say where they will stop? There is no limit we can see today on the size of the dirigibles and airplanes that will take to the air tomorrow."

The unlimited possibility of air traffic, Rickenbacker added, is demonstrated by the experience of Cleveland, which, with a 1,100-acre airport in operation, is looking around for two more of like size to relieve the congestion already developing.

MAIL SERVICE

W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster-general in charge of airmail, in announcing that the New York-Atlanta airmail line soon will be linked with a line to Mexico, Panama and into South America, declared that the Postoffice Department is considering airmail plans "which will amaze the world."

So many municipal airports are being established in the United States that the War Department has been forced to issue regulations limiting the participation of army planes at airport dedications. During the first nine months of this year army planes attended the opening of 201 airports at a cost of $416,074 in gasoline, oil, labor and expenses. A total flying time of 3,922 hours was required.

The Army Signal Corps has announced the completion of a new airplane radio receiver which makes obsolete all the standard receivers now in use. The new outfit is considerably lighter, occupies less space, is more rugged and receives continuous wave signals as well as tone modulation and radio telephone. The joint development by the signal and air corps of the army of a double voltage direct engine-drive generator, which will save weight and cost and increase the dependability of airplane radio transmission, also has been announced.

Ground has been broken at Akron, Ohio, for the world's largest hangar to house the construction of two 6,500,000-cubit-foot dirigibles for the navy. The structure will be 1,200 feet long, 325 feet wide and 200 feet high, and will be located on the newly-established Akron airport. A minimum of 600 men will be employed in construction of the dirigibles and five years will be required for the construction of the hangar and airships.

MUTINY SEALED VESTRIS' FATE

CHIEF ENGINEER SAYS "BLACK GANG" DESERTED POSTS AT FURNACES

Volume of Water in Ship Was Kept Within Limit So Long as Engines Had Steam

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The Vestris might not have sunk if the "black gang" had stuck to their posts in the stokehold, said Chief Engineer James Adams, testifying today in the steamboat inspection service hearing at the customs house.

The volume of water in the vessel, he told Dickerson Hoover, supervising inspector-general presiding at the inquiry, was kept down as long as they had steam, but the stokehold crew deserted their posts before 12 o'clock on the Monday that the ship sank.

At one point, Adams told of his rescue by No. 13 lifeboat, in which there were five or six sailors and one fireman. He said that the men in this boat were not panic-stricken, and Mr. Hoover asked him if he took command of the boat.

"I tried to control them as much as I could," Adams said.

"Did you ever have trouble with the black gang?"

"In what way?" countered Adams.

"Were they ever mutinous?"

"There was no trouble except they would not turn to."

"On this voyage?"

"Yes."

BRINGING CONVICTION

The hard-working fancy dealer had vainly ransacked the whole of his shop in his efforts to please an old lady who wanted to purchase a present for her granddaughter. For the fifteenth time she picked up and critically examined a neat little satchel.

"Are you quite sure that this is genuine alligator skin?" she inquired.

"Positive, madam," quoth the dealer, "I shot the alligator myself."

"It looks rather soiled," said the lady.

"That, madam, is where it struck the ground when it fell off the tree."

MR. BASS IS NAMED DEPUTY

MR. W. D. CARTER IS TRANSFERRED TO VANCOUVER AS ADMINSTRATOR

Mr. Bass Advances From Post of Departmental Solicitor to Succeed Him

MR. O. C. BASS

Mr. W. D. Carter, Deputy Attorney-General, is vacating that office, and will be succeeded by Mr. Oscar C. Bass, departmental solicitor in the same department.

On the request of Mr. Carter, who has occupied the position of deputy to the Attorney-General for some years, he will be assigned the office of official administrator for the County of Vancouver, which was made vacant by the retirement of Mr. W. H. McInnes a short time ago.

In view of the fact that Mr. Carter had been in the service for a considerable time, and was well qualified to fill the duties of the office of official administrator, it was felt that he was entitled to take over the duties.

The position in Vancouver has been conducted on the basis of a commission being allowed the occupant of the office from the returns that are received. The returns have been large on this basis, and there have been complaints that the system was not the proper one to have carried out in connection with such an office.

No decision has been reached with respect to the future administration of the office, but it is generally supposed that the office will be placed in future on a salary basis.

A COMPLETE REST

A lady with a discontented face entered a doctor's consulting room and wearily sank into a chair.

"Oh, doctor, I feel so weak," she began. "What is your advice?"

"Rest, madam," replied the physician, after a slight examination.

"But haven't you any medicine you can give me? Just look at my tongue."

"Yes," said the doctor, "that needs a rest, too."

Chamber Ready For Conference With Farmers

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 24.—The conference with agriculture which the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is arranging for November 27 in Toronto promises to be an event of economic significance and a forward move in the effort which the chamber is making toward the co-ordination of agriculture and the other business interests of Canada, according to Dr. John W. Ross, chairman of the executive of the Canadian Chamber.

The invitations which have been issued to each of the permanent heads of the provincial departments of agriculture and to the department of agriculture, Ottawa, to participate in the round table conference with the chamber have in each case been accepted.

Following the conference itself, there is being arranged a dinner by the Toronto Board of Trade at which function Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, and Premier Ferguson, of Ontario, will be the principal speakers. Invitations for the dinner have also been extended to the provincial premiers and ministers of agriculture, some of whom are likely to be present, and to several of the outstanding representatives of the different branches of agriculture in the Dominion.

Although no set speeches or papers are to be prepared, the agenda, stated Dr. Ross, will include a frank and friendly discussion at the conference itself, on such subjects as:

The service which can be rendered the agriculturist through showing him the value of reducing production costs, more efficient farm management, better marketing methods, wider markets and reafforestation.

Along what lines can more agricultural processing be carried on in Canada.

Suggestions as to the elimination of economic waste in agriculture.

A national business survey of agriculture along nonstatistical lines.

How the farmer and the city man can get to know better each other's point of view, and what does each expect of the other.

A setting up of a national agricultural committee of the chamber to advance agriculture in a business-like way.

The chamber's president, William Birks, is returning from Europe in time to preside at this conference in Toronto, which with its objective of greater economic solidarity is meeting with so much acceptance throughout the provinces, added Dr. Ross.

No More Indigestion

What a pleasure it is to sit down and eat a good, hearty meal without a premonition that there will be pain and discomfort in the process of digestion.

This pleasure is even greater to one who for years has been subject to chronic indigestion and has finally found a relief from his derangement by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Chronic indigestion usually results from torpid liver and a consequently constipated condition of the bowels. Naturally, there are headaches and biliousness in many cases and much irritability and depressed feelings.

It is so easy to allow this condition to develop that almost before you know it you become a "dyspeptic".

But what a relief when you learn about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and put them to a test. In a day or two you are feeling fine and soon you realize that you have discovered the most effective regulator of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

SEATTLE HANDS PORTLAND ANOTHER SETBACK

Puckchasers Show Class In Opening Encounters

Plimley & Ritchie Win, 2-1, in Overtime Battle—Fitz's and Rink Rats Other Winners—Commercial Teams Look Good

The two hundred or more fans who made their way to the Willows Rink last night to witness the opening games of the Commercial Hockey League, were treated to three interesting exhibitions, with plenty of good hockey, fast skating and neat stickhandling. The opener stole the spotlight when Plimley & Ritchie took the points from the Bapcos by a 2-1 score, after five minutes of overtime. In the second game Fitz's grabbed off a 5-3 verdict from the Brilliant Tube Sign team, while the final contest saw the Rink Rats, last year's champions, register a 2-0 victory over the Garrison.

The teams all showed a marked improvement on last year's performances and if the brand of hockey dished up last night is continued, the Simon-pures should experience a most successful season. Alderman James Adam, president of the league, faced off the puck to officially open the season.

A clever goal by Frank Tyrell, centre for Plimley & Ritchie's fast-stepping squad, after five minutes of overtime play, gave his teammates a 2-1 victory in the curtain raiser. After receiving the puck about mid-ice Tyrell skated through the opposing defence and drove home a sizzler, which gave Emery no chance to save.

Chatton netted the first counter of the game when he beat Cecil with a long shot early in the second period. It was not many minutes later that Frank Tyrell evened the count with a low shot that found its way into the corner of the net. The third period saw plenty of good hockey, but no additional scoring.

The teams were:

Plimley & Ritchie—Cecil, Russell, Lock, Smith, F. Tyrell, Green, N. Tyrell, Leetham and O'Neill.

Bapcos—Emery, McCannell, Baylis, McGregor, Unwin, Lawson, Chatton, McPhee, Bleasdale and McKenzie.

FITZ'S TEAM WINS

Skippered by the veteran puckchaser, Percy Fitzsimmons, Fitz's team grabbed off the sweetest victory of the evening when they came from behind a 3-1 score at the end of the second period and won 5-3, from the Brilliant Tubes. In the first period the winners netted the only counter when Woods beat Ward with an easy shot.

In the second stanza the Tubes lived up to their name and ran in three counters. Ivan Temple grabbed off the first one, and then King, who, by the way, was the neatest stickhandler on the ice, ran in two in a row to give his team the long end of a 3-1 score.

The final period was not very old when Fitzsimmons robbed Temple of the puck close to his own goal and scored. Hall, a former member of the Navy squad, skated the length of the ice, outwitted the defence and planted the disc home for the tying counter. Not content with this goal, Hall came back two minutes later and put his team out in front. Woods put the game in the cooler when he sagged the hemp behind Ward to give Fitz's a 5-3 victory.

The teams were:

Fitz's—Ingram, Woods, Parsons, Fitzsimmons, King, Hall and "Moose" Allan.

Brilliant Tube Sign Company—Ward, Temple, V. Simpson, A. Simpson, King, Usher, D. Stewart, Nelson, Noel and Caldwell.

Rink Rats were only able to plant the puck behind Hollingworth, the Garrison goalie, on two occasions and grab off a 2-0 victory. However, this young gentleman, playing his first season here, showed that he knows his nets, and time and time again left his cage and came out to stop what looked like sure counters. In fact Hollingworth looks like the best thing that has stood between the pipes here for many a day, that is, of course, in Simon-pure company.

Sparks netted the first goal for the Rats in the first period on a pass from Bates. In the second session Bates sagged the hemp with a stinging shot from the right wing.

The teams were:

Rink Rats—Vye, Sparks, Kirby, Benwell, Symons, Spouse, Griffin, Nicholson, Bates and Smart.

Garrison—Hollingworth, Charters, Murray, Davidson, Conroy, Martin, Thompson and Clark.

Allan Tuckwell refereed all the games.

LOOK FOR GOOD BOUTS AT DUNCAN

Dave Lewis Will Meet Langdon in Headliner—Fine Supporting Card Arranged

CHRIS LANGDON

The programme of bouts which is being staged tonight at Duncan by W. H. Batstone and C. Crockett is creating lots of interest, and boxing fans from all points of the Island will be present when the first preliminary bout goes on.

Both Lewis and Langdon, the principals in the main event, have a host of admirers who will be present to root for their favorite. According to reports from Duncan, the betting on the contest is at even money. The preliminary bouts appear to be of a high-class nature, and it looks as if some thrilling bouts will be witnessed. Ted Beales and Jack McLean will hook up in the semi-wind-up.

The Keist vs. Pastroe bout is also creating lots of attention, as the fans know that when these battlers get into action they step at top speed from the tap of the gong.

Albie Davies, the crack local bantamweight, is again stepping out of his class when he takes on Art McArdle, late of San Francisco, in a four-round bout. As McArdle usually fights in the junior lightweight class, the local boy will be giving away several pounds to a seasoned fighter.

The curtain raiser will bring together Young Lewis, of Victoria, and Charlie Stock, of Duncan, who will fight four rounds at eighty pounds.

The fights will be refereed by Johnnie Morgan, of Ladysmith, and the first bout will start at 8:45 o'clock.

Illinois Centre Just Wanted to Be Nice

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

One of the greatest individual battles of centres in the history of football occurred in the Chicago-Illinois fracas of 1919. John Depler, now chief scout and head coach of the junior varsity at Columbia, was playing centre for the Illini, while Hartong held down the job for the Maroons. These two huskies tried to muss each other considerably during the combat. It all started when Depler sent Hartong a basket of flowers before the game, which Hartong construed as a delicate insinuation of things that were going to happen to him and peeved him considerably.

Speaking of peeves, Coach C. A. West, of the University of North Dakota, told me the other day that his pet football peeve is to have the referee continually getting in the way of the back field man who comes back to make a pass or who is coming back and around to get the ball on a criss-cross or backward pass.

Coach Bennett, of Sewanee, Tenn., has a peeve and it's a very simple one, too. He hates to see his backs get to their opponents' tacklers too soon.

Tex Rickard Won't Retire From Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—With some show of annoyance, Tex Rickard denies the insistent story that he is to sever his connection with Madison Square Garden after January 1.

"I will be connected with Madison Square Garden as long as I live," he said. "I have often said that the building on Eighth Avenue represents the achievement of a lifetime. It is my monument. It is the biggest thing I have ever done.

"Those who won't accept the sentimental reason might remember that I have a contract with a corporation that has more than twenty years to run. If I wanted to get away, I couldn't; and it happens that I don't want to."

KAPLAN LOSES TO EBBETTS ON FOUL

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A foul blow by "K.O." Phil Kaplan, New York middleweight, in the fourth round, ended his fight with Harry Ebbetts, of Freeport, N.Y., in the ten-round main bout tonight at Madison Square Garden. Kaplan was disqualified for the low punch after 1 minute and 54 seconds of the fourth round. The weights were: Ebbetts, 163; Kaplan, 164½.

George McRae Is Making Recovery From Spinal Hurt

GEORGE McRae, a member of the Pirates Rugby team, who was badly hurt in last Saturday's game against the 16th Canadian Scottish, is progressing as well as can be expected. McRae received a spinal injury, and it is feared he will be a patient at the Jubilee Hospital for several weeks yet.

TOM HEENEY MAY RETIRE FROM RING

Wife Wants New Zealand Heavyweight to Get Out of Fight Racket—Interest Only Lukewarm

MAY ENTER INTO BUSINESS ARENA

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Tom Heeney may be among the missing when Promoter Tex Rickard's elimination tournament to determine the wearer of Gene Tunney's discarded heavyweight crown gets under way. The amiable Australian, who was badly beaten by Tunney in his last ring appearance, is thinking of deserting the squared circle and entering business, because his bride is afraid he may suffer serious physical injury if he continues in the ring.

TOM HEENEY

STYLES PUZZLE HIM

Heeney doen't believe the reward justifies the risk, and doesn't want to box against certain fighters whose styles are difficult for him to solve. While admitting that his interest in boxing is lukewarm, he has not definitely decided to retire.

"My wife wants me to get out while I am sound in body and mind," Heeney said in an interview here. "There's no new one around for me to tackle and I'd like to invest some of my money in business. I don't know whether to retire or keep going.

MAY EARN $40,000

Heeney doesn't believe the reward fighting, but against this is the risk of permanent injury and the loss of privacy a prominent fighter runs up against.

"If I keep on I'd like to fight men near my own size and more closely related to me in style. Fellows like Dempsey, Sharkey, Paolino and Risko. Not tall, fast boxers like Knute Hansen and Phil Scott."

Rickard declared today that if Heeney participates in the elimination tournament, he will not be allowed to pick his opponents.

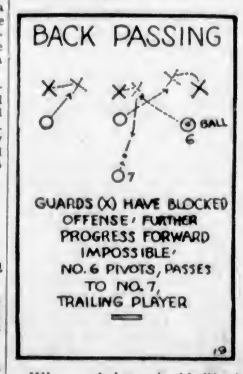
Basketball Lessons



When and how should "back passing" be employed?

Answered By

W. E. MEANWELL,

Coach, University of Wisconsin

When the man in possession of the ball cannot pass with reasonable certainty of success to a teammate, ahead of him and free to receive the ball, the ball may be passed back. The preference, in attack, should always be given to an opportunity to pass forward, if it appears reasonably certain of success. A dribble should be thought of to advance the ball, but if neither appears to be reasonably sure of success, the man with the ball should pivot, and reverse so that his back is towards his opponent, and pass backward. Possession of the ball is of prime importance. Some one, either a guard or a forward, should always trail ten to fifteen feet behind the man with the ball so as to be in "safety man" position to receive the back pass.

THE POISON LIST — — — — — By Ripley

The Poison List—.

The Poison List—so-called because the owners of the names thereon are hard to take—and very, very unsalubrious to the taker.

Poison Lists have been made popular by prizefighters. No mittslinger would be without one. When a matchmaker broaches the subject of boxing to a boxer, he is immediately handed a Poison List—meaning a list of opponents that the said boxer considers too dangerous to mingle with. Of recent date, a certain fighter by the name of Tuffy Griffiths has been heading all the lists handed out around the East. (But that is another story).

Old "Pop" Time—not to be outdone—has a little Poison List of his own. The other night he added on the name of Johnnie Dundee—the aged Scotch-Italian who made a successful "comeback" right before his very eyes. Jack Britton heads the list—and deservedly so, because Jack has been defying the Old Man something scandalous by roaming the country and knocking off aspiring young boxers.

Then there is Jack Quinn of the Athletics. Another who refuses to play dead. And there are Willie Hoppe, May Sutton Bundy, Joe Ruddy Zbyszko, and—well, go ahead and read the list yourself.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Should an average player attempt to remember everything he has been told by the professional?

By ABE G. ESPINOSA

One of America's Leading Professionals. Western Open Champion, 1928. Chicago District Open, 1928.

While an attempt to remember too many things that he has been told may result in confusion, it is well for the average player to try to remember the points given him by the pro. These were all very likely given him for some purpose in connection with his game, and for that reason should be put into practice. This, of course, holds good until the points on which he has been coached become automatic. Until then, the best thing that the average player can do is to confine himself to practice in some quiet corner of the course.

Eskimos Take Second Straight From Bucks In Decisive Fashion

Score in Sound City Opener is 5-2—Largest Crowd in Seattle Hockey History Sees Home Team Win First Game

SEATTLE, Nov. 23.—Seattle's newly-adopted Eskimos stepped into first place in the Pacific Coast Hockey League race here tonight with a 5-2 victory gained before the largest crowd that ever saw a hockey game in this city. It was the official reinauguration of hockey in Seattle, and 6,000 fans, hungry for the game these past years that it has been missing, paid the game and their newly-adopted Eskimos a real compliment with their attendance.

The Eskimos played as though they believed their lives depended on a victory in this their first game at home. They swarmed up and down the ice like bees and were just as busy. They met up with a good team, in the making, one that is going to come as it gains experience.

The Portland Buckaroos actually outskated the Eskimos in straight-away work, but they lacked the finesse that such veterans as Cec. Brown and Jack Walker were able to put into the Eskimo attack, and as a result were thrown for their second straight loss. There was never a minute in the sixty played, however, that this Portland team quit playing.

QUICK FIRST GOAL

Captain Cec. Brown, of the Eskimos, performed the sensational feat of scoring the first goal in the return of hockey to Seattle in exactly seventeen seconds. He had as his helper in that goal the one hockey player who was in the old Pacific Coast hockey aggregation, Jack Walker. From the face-off Conn drove into Seattle territory. Walker took the puck away from him with the old-time hook check.

Down they went with a burst of speed that carried them behind the Portland forwards and enabled them to skirt the Portland defence. Walker faked a pass then passed to Brown, who whipped the puck by Hardaker from no mroe than five feet out. They battled hard, but without result for some time. Finally, almost eight minutes later Vadis Lindsay and Norm Pridham got away with a successful rush, Pridham passing to the blond right wing man for the goal.

There was no more scoring in the first period, but plenty of penalties.

FAST SECOND PERIOD

The second period was the fastest of the evening. Up and down the ice they drove with the defence players ever holding the edge until Conn, the Portland captain, broke through with a solo rush that enabled him to score.

But the Buckaroos were tiring when the third period dawned, and it had barely opened when "Konny" Johanneson drove through for a goal. "Smokey" Harris and Johanneson connived for a second one ten minutes later, and Cec Brown took a rebound from a shot by Johanneson and batted it for the final Seattle score. Just before the close came Armstrong's performance for the Buckaroos final counter.

THE LINE-UPS

QUEBEC AMATEUR UNION REQUESTS CHANGE IN RULES

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—The Province of Quebec Amateur Athletic Union has forwarded a notice of motion to the secretary of the Dominion A.A.U. which will be brought up at the forthcoming annual meeting of the latter body at Port Arthur which will ask that in future soccer amateurs be allowed to play with and against professionals without jeopardizing their amateur standing in other sports.

It is intimated in local amateur sport circles that if this motion is passed by the gathering at Port Arthur, the soccer people probably will join the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union.

ENGLISH CUP SOCCER WILL START TODAY

Opening Rounds of Football Free-for-All Will See Minor Division Clubs In Action

DERBY COUNTY WILL PLAY LEEDS UNITED

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The first round proper of the English Cup competitions, the great soccer free-for-all, takes place tomorrow. The round consists of matches between certain clubs which have won through the preliminary rounds and the Third Division teams. The First and Second Division clubs do not come into the competition until the third round.

In the First Division league game Derby County, the leaders at present, should hold on to their advantage as they are at home though they must play Leeds United, always a dangerous team. Notts County, heading the Second Division, may have to fight hard to win as they are playing on the ground of Swansea Town.

In the Scottish First Division, the match between Motherwell and Rangers, the league leaders, should have little difficulty in maintaining their prominence as their opponents are Clyde, one of the weakest teams in the league.

BASKETBALL HEAD WILL MEET TODAY

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—Basketball moguls of the province will meet in Vancouver tomorrow for the annual meeting of the British Columbia Basketball Association. The report of the constitution committee will be the most outstanding event to come up for discussion, unless the hardy perennial of expenses for traveling teams is brought up, there is not much routine business. Dick Parkinson of Kelowna, will be along to represent the Okanagan, as well as A. C. of Revelstoke. The Kootenays are also reported to be sending a delegate. J. C. Dowds is coming from Victoria, Tom Lewis from Nanaimo, Art Sharp from Chilliwack and W. R. Thompson from Powell River. The meeting will start at 2:30.

JACK DEMPSEY DODGES ISSUE ON FIGHT GAME

Says Neither "Yes" Nor "No" to His Interviewers — Didn't Make Much Money on Grape Crop

TO BUILD TRAINING QUARTERS AT RANCH

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Yesterday Jack Dempsey came home for an indefinite stay, decidedly "mum" on the subject of whether he would fight again and parrying all questions on that moot topic with a barrage of facts about his grape ranch near Fresno, Cal.

"I might fight again and I might not fight again." That was the most definite answer that could be obtained from the former heavyweight boxing champion as he stepped from the train upon his arrival with his wife, Estelle Taylor, from Salt Lake City.

Dempsey, met by several reporters at the station, was asked whether he would deny that he expected to enter the ring again under Tex Rickard's promotion some time in June. His answer was:

NOTHING DEFINITE YET

"I haven't a thing to say for publication, but I most certainly will not say that I will not fight—neither do I say that I will fight."

The ex-champion appeared to derive much enjoyment out of telling the reporters about the grape and raisin crop on his ranch whenever anybody mentioned the subject of fights. He overwhelmed the query of one interviewer thusly:

"I didn't make a lot of money on my crops this year—the prices were way too low—I sold them for $26,000 and they should have brought at least $100,000. I had a wonderful crop, however."

Questioned as to his plans for the future, Dempsey revealed that he plans to make a trip to Fresno to look over his new ranch. He intends to build training quarters similar to those maintained at Soper's Ranch near Ojai, Cal., last year, to keep in shape—whether he fights or not. The Dempseys expect to remain until at least after the holidays, at their Los Feliz Boulevard home, overlooking Hollywood.

Dempsey said he had an invitation from Rickard to visit the New York promoter in Miami, Fla., right after New Year.

OAKLANDS CHALK UP EASY VICTORY

Blank Sir James Douglas 17-0 in School Rugby League Game at Central Park

The superiority of the Oaklands back division over that of Sir James Douglas tells the story of the former's 17-0 victory yesterday at Central Park in a School Rugby League fixture in a few words. On the other hand the pack of the losers was superior to that of Oaklands. In the first half the eventual winners were on the right end of an 11-0 count, and before the whistle sounded for full time they added a pair of tries to make the full score 17-0.

Bridges with two, Packford, Ritchie and Eve with one try apiece, scored for Oaklands. Lovitt added the extra points when he booted the leather between the sticks on the second try. Bennie McMillan made an efficient referee.

FINANCIAL centres in United States, Canada and Great Britain have been surprised by the merger of International Nickel Company and Mond Nickel Company to follow the acquisition of International control by Anglo-Canadian interests. It is stated incorporation in Canada is planned to circumvent the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in the United States, which operates against world monopolies. Above are shown prominent officials of the companies, and the Canadian plants involved in the deal. (1) Sir Alfred Mond, head of Mond Nickel; (2) Sir W. Weir, British director, International Nickel; (3) the International Nickel plant at Port Colborne, Ont., and (9) the company's plant at Copper Cliff, Ont.; (4) J. P. STITCHES NEEDED WHEN PUCK HITS PLAYER IN HEAD

Stopping a puck might be an easy matter for a goalie, but Ralph Sparks, who plays on the defence for the Rink Rats, Commercial Hockey League puckchasers, will think twice the next time before he uses his head for that purpose. Ralph stopped the puck in last night's game, which resulted in his being taken to the Jubilee Hospital and having two stitches put in his forehead, over the right eye.

EX-KING GEORGE TROUNCE TOWERS BY 8-TO-3 COUNT

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—Ex-King George puckchasers, a potent factor in the Vancouver Amateur Ice Hockey Association for some years, demonstrated at the arena tonight that they will have to be reckoned with very sternly this season before any championships are handed out. The youthful students handed the revamped Towers an 8-3 trimming in the opening game of the league season. Four goals in the opening period sealed the fate of the Towers.

PROTEST LODGED BY THISTLES IS NOT UPHELD

The protest lodged by the Saanich Thistles Football Club met a sad ending when it was not upheld by the L.I.F.A. in session last night. The board, after a lengthy deliberation, was unanimous in its decision that the protest could not be upheld. The protest arose over the Milton Cup semi-final game of November 10, at Beacon Hill, when the Thistles were playing Victoria City.

UNIVERSITY WILL PLAY COLLEGIANS

Leadership of Intermediate Rugby League Will Be at Stake at High School Campus Today

This afternoon at the Victoria High School campus, the climax of the first half of the Intermediate Rugby League will take place, when the University School fifteen clash with the Victoria College squad at 3 o'clock.

Both teams will be out for victory, because the championship of the half will be at stake. Neither fifteen has tasted defeat this season, and one of the largest crowds of spectators is expected to be out. Last week University ran through the Canadian Scottish to win by the overwhelming score of 63-0, while the College played an exhibition game with Brentwood College and went down to defeat by a 9-0 score.

So far this season both teams have set aside some stiff opposition, and it is anticipated that a battle royal will take place. The University School will have its most formidable squad take the field, while College will not be lacking any of their outstanding stars.

In the varsity lineup the following players will be seen in uniform: Peard, White, Senkler, Hayward, T. Cornwall, George, Brinkley, Tisdall, Coleman, Gardner, Le Marquand, Mercer, Fitz and Townsend.

The College will have their chief stalwarts on duty in the persons of Godwin, Monteski, Patterson, Coventry, Hume, McImoyl and Ruttan.

NANAIMO SENTENCES

NANAIMO, Nov. 23.—Ten years in the penitentiary was the sentence meted out to George Robertson, alias G. Clegg, by Mr. Justice Morrison at the local Assize Court today. Robertson was found guilty of rape, the offence having occurred here May 22 last. Edward White, a negro of Cumberland, found guilty of permitting the defilement of a girl under fourteen years of age, was sentenced to five years. In passing sentence, His Lordship remarked that under the charge the code did not provide for lashes, but he certainly would have had them added to the sentence had it been possible. F. Henry Ashton, charged with wounding with intent, a case arising at Duncan on May 20 last, in which alleged accused had tried to kill a Miss Dougherty, employed at the Commercial Hotel, was found not guilty and was discharged after a strong warning from His Lordship.

Five minutes after being stung on the hand by a wasp, Mrs. Eliza Earley, 49, of Reading, England, collapsed and died.

Ottawa to Award Tenders for 70 Planes Shortly

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—Orders for approximately seventy airplanes of all types will be awarded by the Government within the next few weeks, G. J. Desbarats, deputy minister of national defence, announced today. The cost will be more than $400,000.

The new machines will be used in the Royal Canadian Air Force and in civil Government operations.

It was stated, however, that the majority of the machines would be of the lighter type, carrying two persons, and that such planes are mainly maintained by their companies. There are only two companies manufacturing planes in Canada and their output is very small, it was pointed out.

FARMERS OPPOSING PUBLIC MEASURES

Resolutions at U.F.O. Meeting Will Concern Liquor Laws and Cadet Training

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 16.—Four resolutions dealing with the liquor question are on the agenda for the annual convention of the United Farmers of Ontario in this city on December 4, 5 and 6. The liquor resolutions point to the increase in the jail population and the increase in crime usually associated with liquor, demand the stoppage of the export of liquor and the abolition of home-brew licences, besides expressing general disapproval of the Government Control system in Ontario.

There are thirty-two resolutions altogether, one of the most interesting being a proposal that the Government should withdraw its financial support from the Ontario Women's Institutes. Two resolutions on this matter will be submitted. One of them urges the withdrawal of the support on the ground that it is unfair that one section of the people should monopolize the service of a department which is financed by all the citizens. It advocates, instead, the organization of a similar Government lecture service which shall be available to all organizations, without requiring them to sacrifice their identity and submerge themselves in the institute movement. The other resolution contends that the service should be freed from the "suspicion of political patronage" or of political bias by being operated by a Federal bureau, rather than as a Provincial department.

Cadet training in the public schools is deprecated by the executive committee of the United Farmers of Ontario, which will submit a resolution urging the convention to go on record as opposed to the expenditure of a dollar of public money for training cadets in the public schools of the Province.

Other resolutions include the following: That the Government make a practical move towards disarmament by reducing the annual appropriation for military purposes; that country judges and sheriffs, if just and sufficient evidence be furnished, be given authority to excuse a summoned farmer juror and call another in his stead; that any further increase in the sessional indemnity of members of parliament be opposed; that a law be enacted fixing the date of elections by statute; that an effort to abolish or reduce the income tax be opposed, and that musical instruction in all public schools be made compulsory.

Monopolies in Turkey, including those for telegraphs, telephones, mail, alcohol, tobacco, salt, sugar, gasoline, playing cards and matches will pay $20,000,000 to the Government in the next year.

Many arrests for betting have been made in Ireland recently.

GREAT MARKET FOR CANADIAN LUMBER IN OLD COUNTRY

Enormous possibilities for the Canadian timber trade in Great Britain are indicated in the report of the Imperial Economic Committee, which discloses that timber imports in Britain are worth $300,000,000 annually, but that 94 per cent of the imported softwoods, instead of coming from the Dominions, come from foreign countries. In line with the general policy of increasing Empire purchasing, it is the desire to expand as far as possible imports of woods from Empire countries, and not long ago it was announced that as a general rule only British timber would be specified in Office of Works building contracts. The report emphasizes the great value of certain Canadian woods and the declaration comes from certain quarters that henceforth the Mother Country must look to Canada for supplies.

It is pointed out, however, that Canadian exporters must study British requirements more closely, attention in the past having been given almost exclusively to the United States market. In this connection it is to be noted that in the past year ended June the decline in the export of unmanufactured wood from $108,082,460 to $95,393,373, was attributable to a decline in trade with the United States, which fell from a value of $89,985,246 to $75,489,033, though still representing practically 80 per cent of the total export trade. Exports to the United Kingdom showed little fluctuation at $8,818,102, or but 9 per cent of the total.

The pulp and paper industry continues to make progress and increased production and exports. The value of exports of pulp and paper in the first seven months of the year, amounting in value to $109,246,223, was an increase of 11 per cent over the corresponding period of 1927. An outstanding feature is the manner in which the industry is getting away from centralization in the Eastern provinces and spreading over the country. The several plants planned for the Maritime Provinces are making progress and are due, within a short time, to give the industry a much more important standing in this area. The first mill to establish in the Prairie Provinces is regularly turning out a dozen cars of paper per day, and this is to be added to by a combined million-dollar paper mill and box factory at Winnipeg.

THE OPTIMISTIC NOTE

A tourist once happened to meet the usual "oldest inhabitant" of a village. In course of the conversation he asked the ancient how old he was.

"I be just 100," was the reply.

"Well, I doubt if you'll see another 100 years," said the tourist, trying to make conversation.

"I don't know so much about 'at, master," was the hopeful response. "I be stronger now than when I started on my first 100."

Park Admirer (soliloquizing)—It is a pleasing thought that although one may have no worldly possessions worth mentioning, in reality the splendid parks are ours—mine, in fact. Here am I, an Englishman, wandering over my own magnificent estate, and nobody can say anything.

Park Keeper (suddenly)—Come off that grass, d'yer 'ear, or I'll turn yer out.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Consciousness was a red spark of agony, in a whirl of hot darkness. In the infinite blackness there was peace.

Something existed, twisted and tortured and bewildered—something struggling not to exist. Something wet and writhing and nauseated and moaning; through the blackness shot with showers and showers of sparks there was a frightened screaming going on. "No—no—no!"

And then darkness, heavenly darkness again, and the pressure—whatever it was, subsiding, subsiding.

Time was not, space was not. But after awhile a troubled sense of place and being began to pain, an added pain to the fearful and familiar one in someone's head. "Yesterday, yesterday," said a whispering voice.

"She heard you—" There was a sense of movement, waves of soft movement, like the sea.

She was somebody, listening. Voices were horribly loud and jarring, and to open her eyes would mean that something split—hideously—into fragments. But she could listen.

"I'd try it." Why should people shout so, especially when their shouting was inside of one—a part of one—a hurtful part of one, not to be torn loose.

Showers and showers and showers of red sparks, wheeling over the pit of the dark. It was agony to be only a spark.

She was that frightful thing, the largest spark, forcing her way, shrieking and screaming, through the others.

"Back—" She wanted to go back, not to be a spark any more.

"Babs—my dearest—"

This meant nothing at all. It was merely vaguely distressing.

"Dearest, don't you know Amy? Babs—"

She must open her eyes. The jagged lightning tore through them and through her, and then came the familiar slipping—the delicious plunge back into the dark.

"Life is all one," she heard a voice say thickly and loudly. But this caused such a raw dragging pain in somebody's throat that it stopped abruptly.

"She was trying to speak then, Doctor."

Who was? Somebody named Barbara. They were all murmuring and brushing about in a light place, talking about Barbara.

"Did she know you?"

"No, but she was conscious there for a second, Miss Ryan thinks."

"She'll know you when she wakes up again."

Whoever she was, she hadn't known Amy. She might know Kate. Perhaps she would like to see Kate, perhaps she would know Kate.

Ward, Amy, Kate. "Babs, dearest—dearest—this is Amy. Won't you look at Kate?"

Whoever Babs was she evidently didn't look at Kate—whoever Kate was. For whoever Amy was, Amy began to cry. Silly to cry. It only made Barry mad.

"Barry—you can't go away now—" Whispering, this was. Her head ached.

Poor Barbara Atherton; it was boiling hot in the kitchen—she had to hurry, hurry, hurry—get the wood in—feed the chickens—pin out that wash—or the man would be kept waiting! Hot—hot—hot—nothing to breathe anywhere, and one was going to be frightfully sick.

"Sick—" She was crying weakly, with pity for whoever was so sick. "And he did hit my head—"

"Her head aches, doctor. She keeps trying to move it."

"What did she say then?" These were not whispers; mere breaths of clear voices.

"I coudn't get it. Something about her head."

Fingers were quietly holding hers. For a long time she could not think what that warm, steady, soft pressure was. Then she remembered, fingers. Suck—slap—suck—slap. That must be a window shade sucking and slapping gently, like a sail, on an opened window sash.

"No headache," she said it distinctly, faintly, without opening her eyes.

An instant, fragrant stir near her. A voice, rich with tenderness.

"No headache, my darling? Is it a relief?"

"It's—heavenly!"

Then, after a long silence:

"Amy?"

"Yes, my dearest!" But why was Amy crying so hard? Her voice was thick and shaken with tears.

Then Ward Duffy's voice. Where could they all be, anyway, that Ward Duffy should be here?

"Amy—you mustn't, dear. You ought to be laughing, now." And then clearly, after a space of silence: "Bad for your darling baby, Amy!"

Somehow one knew one must say that. But why? Did it matter? Yet now that her head had stopped aching she liked to speak, in this heavy, droning voice.

She heard the flurry among them, felt the nurse's clever fingers at her wrist. Her eyes opened wide, and a shock of frightful pain went through her temples, and was gone.

And then suddenly memory and understanding. And those who watched her saw the intelligence come back into the violet-ringed blue eyes, and with intelligence, fear. Barry—Slinder—the fog—the ranch kitchen, and the little figure in the draggled double gown—

"Amy! Kate—?"

"Lie down. Kate's fine. She's at our house with Ward's mother."

Barbara sank back on the pillows panting, her eyes shut again. When she opened them Amy was still there, watching her with a tender, loving look.

"Is there another baby, Amy?"

Amy slipped to her knees beside the bed, put her lips against Barbara's languid hand. And Barbara felt her sister's cheek wet.

She did not open her eyes. But those who watched her saw tears slip down from the shadow of the dark, lowered lashes on her ivory white cheeks.

"No—no little brother in June?" she whispered, tasting salt.

"If you knew how proud we are to have gotten you out of it so beautifully, Mrs. du Spain, you'd feel fortunate!"

This was the nurse. Barbara opened her eyes, and Amy, in tears herself, gently dried them with a handkerchief.

"You had a close call, darling," said Amy.

"I suppose so," Barbara lay thinking, her hand in her sister's.

"And you have Kate, the most delicious baby I ever saw, every one is wild about her!" Amy added more cheerfully.

"The darling!" Barbara smiled weakly. "Could I see her?" she asked, her eyes filling again, but more from the effort of speech than from any conscious emotion.

"Any time now!" the nurse assured her warmly. The invalid smiled weakly again; it was something to look forward to, that first glimpse of Kate.

"Is Barry here now, Amy?"

"No, he was on his way East, you know. We sent him messages, but, of course, when you're away," Amy began to explain carefully, "you don't realize what people are going through at home."

Barbara's eyes moved to her sister's thoughtfully; she slightly bit her lip, wrinkling her brow. But she made no comment.

"I suppose I'll be well again, some day, Amy?" This was later.

"Suppose, Barberry? Why, my darling, the whole town's talking about the rapidity with which you're getting well. Peritonitis, or something awfully near it."

"I remember Link arriving at the ranch, Christmas eve—"

"Don't think about that, Babs."

"Oh, I can think about anything now. Lying here, just loafing and dreaming, with no chickens and cow and lamps and dishes and laundry to worry about, and just enchanting trays and flowers—"

AUSTRALIA WOULD TURN HER WASTE LANDS TO PROFIT

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 23.—Efforts which may lead to the use of many square miles of arid country in Central Australia were outlined by Professor T. G. B. Osborn in an address to the Royal Society here recently.

Many important sheep stations, Professor Osborn said, were in the dry western areas, but difficulties were met when overgrazing depleted the natural pasturage. The study of salt bush flora had been taken up at the Koonamore vegetation reserve and field laboratory, about 100 miles west of Broken Hill. An area of nearly 1,500 acres had been securely netted against stock and rabbits, and the laboratory placed in charge of a science graduate. The Council for Scientific and Industrial Research had made a grant towards the investigations, which Professor Osborn was directing. It was the object of Koonamore to study the growth and powers of regeneration of the salt bushes. The programme of experiments and observations had been in operation for two and a half years, and already much promising data had accumulated.

Family trees aren't like others. In others appearance of the sap is an indication of continued vigor.

NOTHING MORE

It was the scent of Summer in the air that sent a certain business man a-hurrying to his tailor. During the Winter months, however, his figure had altered. No longer was he tall and slim. Plenty of good food and long days of enforced idleness had played him a low trick.

His tailor spotted the change, but, knowing his customer, kept a discreet silence as he measured skillfully.

"About the same as last year—eh?" queried the business man, as the measuring process came to an end.

"Oh, yes, sir," replied the tactful tailor. "Chest a bit lower, p'raps, that's all."

RUMOR IS BUSY WITH PROJECTS

Warning Is Issued Against Too Ambitious Expectations of Road Programmes

From some parts of the province are coming reports that various roads are to be constructed or improved during the coming year. These reports appear to have passed into circulation, in most instances at least, without any proper authority for such statements. As a matter of fact it would appear, according to the Minister of Public Works, that the programme for the coming year in the line of road work is still in the melting pot.

District engineers have been in attendance at the offices of the department, consulting with Hon. N. S. Lougheed, and the officials of his department as to the needs of the different districts from which they come. These needs are being gone into from every conceivable standpoint, in order to ascertain just what service these roads will be called upon to give, and how important they are in the general plan of public utility.

In addition to the actual needs of the roads there has to be taken into account what money will be available and the work made to conform. It will be some little time before the actual work that will be undertaken will be decided upon.

SUPPRESSED KIPLING SOLD

Among rare manuscripts and first editions of Kipling's early works which were recently sold at auction in London was a copy of "Letters of Marque," from the suppressed English edition of 1881. Originally there were 15,000 of these, and all but three were destroyed. A first-edition copy of the "Schoolboy" lyrics in the original white wrapper issued for private circulation in Lahore in 1881, when Kipling was a reporter in India, was also sold.

Reads His Own Name On War Memorial

SERGT. JOHN ALLEN
formerly of the 2nd Battalion, C.E.F., who discovered on Armistice Day that his name appears on the newly erected war memorial in Confederation Square, Peterboro, Ont., as among the soldiers who had made the supreme sacrifice. Sergt. Allen was one of the first Peterboro men to enlist. He returned home in 1918 and cannot understand how he was listed as killed.

HITS GOOD ROADS BOOSTERS

How to construct auto highways in Ethiopia is a problem being discussed by good-roads boosters of the Abyssinian country. Labor is plentiful and cheap, and the country is rich in products, but there is no way to raise funds. The government has no public debts and has never borrowed money, and would not consider a bond issue or any other method of getting into debt. Foreign capital and enterprise may be necessary to solve the problem.

At The Playhouses

COLUMBIA THEATRE Rin-Tin-Tin, starring in "Jaws of Steel," the Warner Brothers production, now at the Columbia Theatre, is a German shepherd dog who was found and adopted by Lieut. Lee Duncan in France. The dog when found was but three days old and in the advance war zone. It was Duncan who trained him and later put him in the movies. Rin-Tin-Tin's first starring vehicle, "Where the North Begins," was followed by a series of successes that include "The Lighthouse by the Sea," "The Hero of the Big Snows."

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Comedy acting for the screen is a matter of jazz timing of your actions, and syncopated psychology, according to Charlie Murray. His latest furr vehicle for First National, now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, is "The Head Man." It is not burlesque, but a very human whimsical comedy from Harry Leon Wilson's novel, "The Boss of Little Arcady."

DOMINION THEATRE The gypsy hop is the latest dance! Dolores Del Rio uses it in her picture, "Revenge," produced by Edwin Carewe for United Artists at the Dominion Theatre. The Mexican star acquired the new dance steps from Serge Curainsky, well known ballet master and instructor. When Miss Del Rio made "Resurrection," she and Rod La Rocque had to master difficult Russian steps. When she filmed "Ramona" she used her native dance numbers. Every film in which the actress has so far appeared, required a different dance routine.

VARIETY THEATRE Madge Bellamy scores again. This time it is in the role of a young secretary seeking wealth, in Fox Films' comedy-drama, "Soft Living," which opens today at the Variety Theatre. She portrays the role of a modern young lady who believes that alimony is more important than love. But after rollicking through reels of adventure, trying to get the money, she finally decides that love is the only thing that really counts. Also on the same bill is "Silver Valley," Fox Films production starring Tom Mix, adapted to the screen by Harold Lipsitz from the pen of Harry Sinclair Drago. Dorothy Dwan is the feminine lead. Ben Stoloff directed the production.

CAPITOL THEATRE If Milton Sills has any regard for his well-known features, he threw it to the winds during the filming of "The Crash," which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre with Sills in the starring role. "The Crash" was directed by Eddie Cline for First National. The leading feminine role is portrayed by Thelma Todd. The stage attractions include Audrey Anderson, the famous Chicagoan dramatic soprano; Bliss and Doxey, a couple of English banjo artists, and MacDonald and McConn in a clever dance and song skit. This week also introduces Jack Reid, who in the future will be the singing M.C.

Gordon McLeod's Farewell Performance At Royal Tonight

No modern play of many seasons has taken such a grip on the Victoria audiences before which it has been given as Gordon McLeod's current production at the Royal of "A Bill of Divorcement." Partly that is due to the superb acting of the brilliant young star himself and of his leading lady, Lillian Christine. Partly, also, it is because the play is the most powerful slice of the theatre produced by any English playwright since the war, and partly, too, because Mr. McLeod has brought one of the strongest English supporting casts ever seen here and a production which richly deserves the rating of superlative. In any case, it is an offering which will long remain a high light in many season's dramatic fare. Tonight is the farewell performance of Mr. McLeod and of "A Bill of Divorcement." It is the last chance to see a production which few dramatic successes of the future can be expected to touch.

Stratford Festival Company Opens at Royal on Monday

A dramatic company of the very first importance and of world-wide celebrity will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre for one week beginning November 26 in a repertory of Shakespearean plays. The organization is the Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company, which comes direct and in its entirety from the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-upon-Avon, the birthplace of William Shakespeare. The present tour is the first that the company has made under the immediate direction of the governors of the Memorial Theatre, although upon one occasion, fourteen years ago, Sir Frank Benson brought to this side his company that had played there. The repertory arranged for the engagement at the Royal Victoria Theatre is as follows: Monday evening, "The Taming of the Shrew"; Tuesday evening, "King Richard the Third"; Wednesday matinee, "The Merchant of Venice"; Wednesday evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Thursday evening, "King Henry the Fourth," Part 1; Friday evening, "Hamlet"; Saturday matinee, "Julius Caesar"; Saturday evening "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Elsa Alsen on Musical Training Among Children

It has been my good fortune to traverse my beloved adopted land many times from coast to coast, and I have met countless Canadian children and Canadian mothers. As I think of their bright and happy faces, their Canadian eagerness to do the best in all things, it seems a little presumptuous upon my part to affect an attitude of giving advice. With all the hardships that come with motherhood, I still feel strongly that there is a reward which the large family brings to the right kind of mother that nothing else can give. I am sure that many Canadian mothers will agree with me that what some term luck of musical ability, or lack of musical inclination, is nothing but pure indolence mixed with juvenile "cussedness." Oh, the Machiavellian diplomacy that some children will resort to in order to avoid a few minutes practice! The average child will think of more excuses for avoiding practice than all the politicians of Europe have trumped up for the starting of the European War when it is perfectly plain to everybody that the real reason was the fight to maintain militarism.

NEW ORCHESTRA FOR DOUGLAS HOTEL CABARET

Tonight the Douglas Cabaret presents a new orchestra to its patrons.

The show programme presented by Tommy Parker's Rosebud Follies is new and snappy. "Tommy and Les" will be on the job every minute to see that everyone is having a good time. The feature number this week will be a novel fan dance by Miss Chleo Goffe and Miss Nita Urdahl. Les Everson, whose beautiful voice made such an impression in last week's show, will sing another popular ballad.

The Douglas Cabaret is living up to it's slogan, "The Bright Spot of Victoria." Every Wednesday is to be artista' night, when the performers from the different theatres will attend.

SHOW BOAT FROLIC FEATURED TONIGHT

A.B.C. Chain Programme Presents Popular and Novelty Numbers During Broadcast

An hour of fast-moving entertainment will regale listeners of A.B.C. chain stations this evening between 11 and 12 o'clock, when KJR's radio Show Boat of early Mississippi River days pulls alongside the levee and a typical Mississippi River showboat programme is broadcast over the air.

The "Show Boat" frolic is presented every Saturday night and brings a varied company of songsters and comedians before the A.B.C. microphones, who frolic through a programme modelled after those which traveling troupes of actors used to coax small change from river dwellers fifty years ago.

Harold Weeks, Seattle song writer and music dealer, is the master of ceremonies and acts as the ballyhoo artist for the troupe, announcing each act as it is presented and keeping up a running line of conversation typical of early day ballyhoo boosters.

Murray and Harris, the popular novelty duo, will be heard in this programme, singing original and novel duets as will "Beep, Beep, Minstrel of the Mike," who leans toward novelty vocal and instrumental numbers. The cast for this programme includes a five-piece orchestra and selected groups of novelty vocalists and instrumentalists.

Originating in the studies of KJR in Seattle, this programme will be released by KGA, Spokane, and KEX, Portland, simultaneously.

SOS. SENT FROM SHINRYU MARU

Muroran Maru Standing By to Render Aid—Little Fear for Safety of Crew

SEATTLE, Nov. 23.—An explanation of the SOS. call picked up by the American Mail liner President Madison, en route to Japan from Seattle, was received by the line's offices here today in a message from the Madison. The SOS. was intercepted by the Madison's wireless operator yesterday when the liner was about halfway across the Pacific.

The Japanese coasting steamer, Shinryu Maru, is ashore on the rocks of Hakodate Strait, in the Japanese archipelago. Its distress calls brought the Japanese steamer Muroran Maru to the scene, and the latter vessel now is standing by and giving aid.

As the wreck is on the Japanese coast, there should be little fear for the safety of the crew of the ship, the Madison wirelessed. The Madison is proceeding for Yokohama.

DAMAGED VESSEL LEAVES VICTORIA

Blue Star Liner Albion Star Will Be Surveyed and Repaired at Seattle

Bound for Seattle, where she will be surveyed, and where damage to her bottom will be repaired, the Blue Star freighter Albion Star, Captain J. Mitchell, left the drydock wharf at 3:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with the Salvage King steaming close by to render aid if necessary.

As far as could be ascertained, about one-third of the vessel's cargo of apples, onions and pears is damaged by water. As she is a refrigerator ship, repairs will be far more expensive than to a craft with ordinary cargo holds. The job will probably cost $50,000 to complete.

Captain John D. Macpherson, deputy to the Dominion wreck commissioner, yesterday had received no instructions as to holding an inquiry here into the vessel's running on Rosedale Reef, early Thursday morning. It is considered likely, however, that an investigation will be held in Victoria in the near future.

Young Chinese Boss of 181 in Black Gang

PETER LAU

No. 1 fireman on the Empress of Canada, boss of a black gang of 181 China boys, claims to be one of the few chief stokers who ever heard the cry, "Less steam." The usual order that goes down to the midriff of a big ship nowadays is for more steam and still more steam. Lau, who has spent twelve years in stokeholds, was formerly on the Empress of Russia. He was in charge of the stokers aboard when the ship brought Mears & Collyer to Victoria at 10:10 o'clock on the evening of July 20 on their sensational tour of the world by plane and fast steamer. It was while he was speeding up his black gang on that occasion that he heard that rarest of orders, "Less steam."

LIGHT DAMAGE TO MS. ARRAN FIRTH

Vancouver Vessel Survives Pounding on Texada Island Remarkably Well

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—Inspection of Ms. Arran Firth, which ran aground on Texada Island this week, made Thursday at the British Columbia Marine drydock, showed that the damage was confined to bent plates and broken rivets. There were no punctures and no damaged frames, according to officials of F. Waterhouse & Co., owners.

The small damage sustained by the ship astonished the officers and crew of the vessel, who had stood on the shore for hours and watched her pound in the gale. Tenders for repairs of the ship will be called at once, and it is expected she will be back in commission in three weeks.

Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Semaphore drydock add 38 feet to the height of high water as above given.

COURT RELEASES SEAPOOL REPORT

Captain John D. Macpherson Gives Official Data on Inquiry Held on November 9

The official report of the Court of Inquiry into the matter of the steamer Seapool striking an uncharted rock off Channel Rocks buoy, on October 25, was issued yesterday by Captain John D. Macpherson, deputy to the Dominion Wreck Commissioner. Captain Macpherson held the investigation here from November 9 to 10, assisted by Captain Samuel Vint and Captain C. M. C. Fleming.

Following is the report of the court, in part:

"The British steamship Seapool, official number 135891, is a coal-burning, single-screw steamer, built of steel at Stockton-on-Tees in 1913, by Messrs. Ropner & Son, and is registered at West Hartlepool, England. She is 392 feet long, 56 feet beam and 26.9 feet deep, her gross tonnage being 4,549 tons. Owned by the Pool Shipping Company, Limited, of West Hartlepool; she is a fine, well-found, well-equipped, modern cargo vessel.

"She is fitted with wireless, electric light, direction finder and is propelled at a speed of about nine knots by a single screw triple-expansion engine. She is provided with a steam steering gear and has a double bottim. Her two compasses were adjusted in Barry, South Wales, in March, 1928, and are of the latest pattern. She carried a crew of thirty-five hands, a pilot and supercargo at the time she struck.

LEAVES FOR COAST

"The Seapool left the United Kingdom for California, Puget Sound and British Columbia ports, via the Panama Canal, on August 2, 1928. She arrived at Vancouver without event and there proceeded to Chemainus, Nanaimo and Victoria for lumber.

"On Wednesday, October 24, she she left the Canadian Puget Sound Mills for Port Alberni and rounded Race Rocks light at 8:20 p.m. The night was fine and clear when the master retired, which, in the court's decision, he was justified in doing, as there was a competent pilot on the bridge. Captain Vivian Forth left orders to be called before the vessel reached the entrance to Alberni Canal.

"Officers left on the bridge were Pilot Captain W. J. Boyce; Mr. John Westerberg, first mate, and Mr. Norman Spouse, second mate. At 4.15 o'clock on the morning of October 25, Cape Beale light was rounded at a distance of about one mile off. After continuing about one mile the vessel's course was altered to what has always been considered a safe course to pass about three cables off Channel Rocks gas buoy. At 4.40, with the buoy nearly abeam on the port side, distant about three cables, the vessel struck, scraping over the obstruction and off into deep water.

CAPTAIN PRAISED

"The vessel's course was verified from Cape Beale light while the first mate sounded fifteen fathoms with the hand lead. The Seapool was found to be taking on considerable water, so the master turned back to Victoria. The court finds that Captain Forth deserves considerable credit in arriving at so quick a decision in the trying circumstances in which he found himself.

"The master and pilot, finding that the vessel was in a proper and hitherto assumed safe position, could form no other conclusion but that there was an unchartered rock in the vicinity. The Estevan verified the position of Channel Rocks buoy and later Mr. E. D. Parizeau, chief hydrographer for the Dominion Government, found the position of the rock when aboard the Lillooet in Barkley Sound, assisted by the second mate of the Seapool. The rock was hitherto unknown and certainly had not been charted.

"The court finds that the Seapool was on a safe and proper mid-channel course when she struck; that a good and proper lookout was kept; that the rock upon which she struck was hitherto uncharted; that the vessel was navigated with proper and seamanlike care; that the stranding was not caused through the wrongful act or default of the master, second officer or any of the ship's crew."

Radio Beacon Operating Wave Length Given

IN connection with the report of the stranding of the Albion Star near Race Rocks Thursday morning, Mr. E. J. Haughton, division superintendent of the Government radio service, wishes to point out to mariners that the Race Rocks radio beacon operates on a wave length of 1,000 metres.

The signal sent out is the letter "J," one dot followed by three dashes, continued for a period of sixty seconds and followed by a period of ninety seconds' silence. A number of ships equipped with radio compasses have taken bearings from the beacon and have found it extremely accurate, according to Mr. Haughton.

GAMBLING SHIP DEFIES THE LAW

Monfalcone Takes Up Position Thirteen Miles Off Coast of Long Beach, Cal.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—The Monfalcone, so-called successor to the Johanna Smith, a gambling ship which was recently confiscated by the authorities, put out to sea tonight and took up a position thirteen miles off the coast of Long Beach.

H. O. Dougherty, one of the owners, said, "Nobody can touch us, we are outside the jurisdiction of the mainland courts and therefore inside the law."

The Los Angeles county district attorney's office indicated it would proceed against the Monfalcone and its solicitation boats on the grounds of conspiracy.

CAN. PAC. AND NICKEL GO TO RECORD MARKS

General List Sways Wildly During Day and Ends About Where It Began—Coppers in Demand

TOTAL SALES RUN NEAR TO 7,000,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The stock market cavorted about wildly as the pace of trading was quickened to another new speed record today, and ended up about where it started.

Total sales touched 6,942,500 shares, nearer the 7,000,000 mark than ever before.

Some two score issues were driven to new high levels in gains running to a maximum of 30 points, but some of the wide gains were more than wiped out, and the close found a wide sprinkling of net losses of 1 to 15 points. The bull campaign went forward at a terrific pace during the forenoon, but shied at a phantom at midday and turned a somersault, only to regain its footing and push forward in the late trading. At the close scores of issues registered net gains of 10 to 20 points.

Wright Aero rushed 19 points to 289 in the early trading, and fell back at midday to 261, down 9 points net. During the afternoon it jumped back to 271, up 1 net, but in the closing sales it fell for a net loss of 15. Radio fluctuated between a net gain of 5 and a net loss of 13 and closed 6 points down.

American Railway Express mounted 20 points to a new high. Canadian Pacific advanced about 10 points to 251, the highest in years, but lost about half the gain. The buying was accompanied with rumors that distribution of the stock of a mining subsidiary was planned.

Some of the coppers again were in heavy demand, Andes, Kennecott and Nevada touching new tops. International Nickel bounded up 14½ points to a new peak at 205½ and closed at 203. Gold Dust and Coty made extreme gains of about 8 to 10 points in heavy demand. Standard of California was the strong spot in the oils, mounting more than 3 points to another new high.

Steel shares generally sagged, although Bethlehem approached its previous high and made a small gain.

Foreign exchanges were quiet. Yen rallied slightly, and the Canadian dollar lost a little of its premium as a result of the gold movement from New York.

Price trends in the bond market today followed those of stocks, up the hill and down, but the market again failed to share in the frenzied trading which lifted stocks and curb market sales to new high totals.

OREGON COPPER

The fact that the shares of the Oregon Copper Company are obtainable at between seventy and eighty cents indicates that a general knowledge of actual conditions is lacking. Reports and opinions on the mine have been published and with greater frequency during the past few days, but such reports and opinions are necessarily brief and it is not to be expected that an engineer's report covering twenty or more pages can be condensed into a mere newspaper paragraph.

Furthermore, it is probable that the reports and opinions referred to are discounted to a considerable extent because there have been glaring instances, and one quite recently, when such reports, though emanating from sources seemingly reliable, have proved to be very misleading. Under such circumstances incredulity is natural but regrettable when it prevents sound business action.

It has been said to us, "If this mine is so good why are the shares sold in British Columbia?" If Mr. Ford's cars are so good why does he not keep them all in Detroit? Also are not the shares of General Motors, U. S. Steel, International Nickel and countless other corporations bought and sold each day in British Columbia?

It has also been said to us that some of our contemporaries do not regard the Oregon Copper Company favorably. In answer we have made an offer to provide transportation to the mine for the representative of any substantial brokerage house on the sole condition that he shall publish his own unbiased opinion after seeing the mine. And the foregoing is written because it is our job, as stockbrokers, to find stocks which will make money for our clients. We do not think, hope or expect that Oregon Copper will make money for our clients, we know it.

The two and a half million tons of ore already ready for milling gives this stock an intrinsic value of many times its present price, and that tonnage is probably less than ten per cent of the ore available.

A speculation usually consists of a hopeful guess. An investment is supposed to present safety of capital and comensurate income. A speculative investment is supposed to embrace safety of capital with prospective capital appreciation. Oregon Copper is not a speculation. It is a speculative investment of the highest order. We are not customarily so emphatic, but we assume responsibility for our attitude and, in due course, will claim the consequent credit.

MART ERRATIC AT WINNIPEG

OFFERINGS IN PIT LIGHT WITH NO APPARENT PRESSURE

Export Business Overnight Only Fair—Lake Freights Reported as Very Strong

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Nov. 23.—Wheat Market was erratic today, and after opening ¼ lower, prices advanced 1 cent, only to lose most of the gain later. While there was a little buying by seaboard houses at the start, most of the buying later was short covering, the local crowd, who sold yesterday, becoming nervous due to the upturn in Chicago and to a report that hot winds were causing damage to crops in Southern Argentina.

Offerings were very light in the pit, there being no pressure at any time, but after the shorts had covered and others had gone long, nobody seemed to want wheat and prices naturally eased off. Chicago advanced 1 cent during the first part of the day on short covering, but that market also failed to hold the upturn.

Export business overnight was reported as only fair, possibly half million bushels in all positions from North America, but there was an excellent demand for cash wheat locally. Cash wheat the past few days has undergone a thorough liquidation. Buyers have been rather indifferent because boats had been delayed coming up the lakes due to a storm. Today there are thirty or forty boats awaiting to be loaded and wheat was wanted to fill tonnage, and as a result spreads were ½ to 1½ better on the low grades, but unchanged on the top grades. Lake freights are very strong at 5 to 5½ cents to Buffalo and bay ports, but this will have little effect on the larger shippers who have their tonnage all contracted for.

Deliveries on the contract today were fairly large, being 1,557,000 bushels. Liverpool closed ¼ to ½ lower when due ¼ down base on Winnipeg. Buenos Aires closed ½ to 1 cent lower yesterday and was ¼ lower at noon today.

Country marketings in Western Canada yesterday were 3,355,997 bushels of wheat, as compared with 3,170,106 a year ago. Winnipeg futures closed November 118¼, December 118¼, May 124½, July 126¼, or ⅜ lower to unchanged.

Coarse grains—There was a fair business in the coarse grains with a domestic demand for oats and barley, but offerings were liberal and prices somewhat easier. There was a little short covering in November rye. Little or no export business could be confirmed. Oats closed ⅜ to ½ lower, barley 1 cent to ⅛ lower, and rye ½ higher to ⅛ lower.

Money at Work
For the Small Investor

It's easy to borrow when you are backed with A1 collateral.

The ways a bank invests its money: Notes secured by collateral.

From the standpoint of the bank, this type of note is one of the most desirable forms of investment. If proper attention is paid to the collateral, there is little risk, there is always a ready resale of the securities, and the loans are usually for short terms.

Among the many kinds of collateral security, the most desirable are those for which there is a constant market. The reliability and worth of the borrower enters into the safety of the transaction to some degree, but generally speaking, the value of the investment depends on the value of the collateral.

If you desire a loan you will find that this kind is the easiest to get, particularly if you are unknown at the bank. You need only remember that the collateral you pledge must be first class.

NORANDA MINES BREAKS RECORD

IS OUTSTANDING STAR IN TORONTO STOCK MARKET'S FIRMAMENT

Rumors Come Thick and Fast as to Reason for Steady Rise in Progress

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—Eclipsing all former records in point of volume, Noranda Mines was the outstanding star in the market firmament in today's session of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange. Opening at $56, Noranda steamed ahead, taking all offerings to a high of $62.50, easing to close at $61.50. Rumors flew thick and fast on the street as to the reason for the present steady rise which Noranda has been experiencing since last Tuesday morning. The rumor still persists that stock is to be offered as rights to shareholders at $50 a share for the purpose of greatly increasing smelter and concentrating capacity.

Two contrary reports were traced to Rouyn sources. One report states that the "F" ore body, which is comparable in size to the "H" ore body, has turned into high grade ore at depth, and that values are similar to Noranda's now famous "H" ore body. The other report from Rouyn is to the effect that an entirely new ore body had been found on the 975-foot level. Talk of C. P. buying and of the possible battling of Anaconda for control was also heard. The old rumor of the building of a copper refinery by International Nickel and Noranda again was raked up. Viewing the situation from all angles, we feel that whatever news eventually is released on Noranda will be bullish, and that Noranda will sell considerably higher. In other words, the long side of Noranda should be the profitable side in the next three or four weeks.

Consolidated Smelter was another base metal stock that registered a remarkable advance, opening at $344. Consolidated sold up to $400 a share. International Nickel, not to be outdone, poked its way to $205, closing at $203.25. The new stock closed at 34 1-4 bid. Hudson Bay was rather ignored, closing at $19.95 bid. At 125 bid, Kirkland Lake was 9 points higher. Mining Corporation at 350-355, was off 5 points. Abana, at 335, was off 15 points. The Lindsley stocks were in disfavor, and Sherritt and Sudbury Basin, at 675 and 720, were inclined to be soft. Lake Shore touched $18.50, but eased to finish at $18.25. The three big oil stocks, B. A. Oil, International Pete. and Imperial, were easy, especially Imperial at 89 1-2 bid.

Early New York Dealings of Record-Breaking Volume — Pathe Reaches New High

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Prices continued to advance in the early dealings in the stock market today, and the volume during the first hour was said to be of record-breaking proportions. Practically all groups on the list were represented in the rather spectacular upswing, with Union Carbide, Wright Aero and Case Threshing Machine being the outstanding performers. Among the low-priced issues, Pathe was the bright spot, reaching a new high for the year on buying which in large part was instigated by merger rumors involving the company.

In the oil division of the list, Barnsdall "A" was an active issue on buying, which was promoted by reports that the company had brought in a new well in the Rose Crans Field.

The market developed a somewhat reactionary tendency in the forenoon following the announcement that the Stock Exchange would not be open for business tomorrow. However, buying operations were renewed on the announcement by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York of the appointment of Deputy Governor Harrison to succeed the late Governor Strong.

The news today was of little importance and had but little bearing on the action of the market. Directors of Norfolk Southern met and declared a semi-annual dividend of $1.25 and an extra of $1.00, placing the stock on a $2.50 annual basis.

We incline to the belief that a reduction of long holdings at every favorable opportunity is the better course to pursue.

News of the Mines

(From Holloway, Mills & Co., Vancouver, through R. P. Castle & Co., Ltd.)

DUTHIE—Duthie Mines reports the drifting of another twenty feet on the rich ore shoot on the new level, making a total distance on the ore of twenty-five feet. The face of the tunnel is said to be still in good ore. Another motor truck is being put on surface to haul concentrates to the railway at Smithers. The work of doubling the mill capacity is being continued. Duthie Mines have already paid two dividends since the commencement of operations. The first was paid June 20 and the second on September 7. These dividends were 2½%, making altogether 5% on the stock to date.

BATHURST—Reports received at the Toronto office of Bathurst Mines states that high grade ore is continuing in the western drifting at the 200-foot level, and Mr. T. W. Bathurst, president, and Mr. T. H. Rea, director, seen by The Northern Miner, expressed the opinion that from the assays received the 180 feet of drifting would run $50 over an average width of four feet six inches.

AMITY—Amity Copper Mines' main shaft is now down to a depth of about 350 feet, on the way to an objective of 600 feet. This sinking programme was decided upon following results at the 375-foot level, the lowest workings from the winze. Amity, in recent months sank a winze from the 250-foot level to a depth of 375 feet to determine the consistency of the ore. The vein was cut about 20 feet from the winze, and was drifted on for a length of 140 feet. Results met the expectations of the manager, Mr. S. A. Pain, and the present programme was decided upon. The vein is described as identical to the upper levels.

TECK-HUGHES—The Northern Miner hears that Teck's new south ore body has been drifted on for nearly 300 feet on one level and for a considerable distance on two others, and that diamond drilling already shows a height of 800 feet. This is certainly a sizeable new body. The exact width is not stated, but it is known to be very good and values are not far below Teck standards.

NEWBEC—Newbec's sinking work is expected to put it into its ore at a depth of 250 feet within the next six weeks. It will then be enabled to stick more closely to ore material. The shaft which Newbec is sinking on the Lartic property has reached a depth of thirty-five feet.

BARRY HOLLINGER — Barry Hollinger is still taking down the backs of the 140-foot ore shoot on the 1,250-foot level. So far this work has been done for about seventy feet of the ore shoot. The average grade so far is about $8. This operation has not yet reached the section where the rich material came from, near the face of the drift. When the backs are taken down for the whole length of the ore shoot preparations will be made for stoping.

MALARTIC—Malartic Gold Mines decreased its staff last Saturday and it was thought that a diamond drill campaign is being planned. At present one diamond drill is being employed on surface and one underground. It is reported that another diamond drill is on the way. The property will have a mine crew of thirty to thirty-five men for the Winter.

SLADEN MALARTIC—Have completed their camp buildings and are making a geological survey of the claims at the present time, under the supervision of Dr. W. F. James.

GRAHAM BOUSQUET — The shaft is now down to a depth of 385 feet. Work is being pushed as actively as possible with the plant on hand. The objective is 500 feet. Graham is generally considered a pretty fair bet in this area.

J. O. B. PETERSON—A crew of eight men are doing general prospecting work. A schisted area containing much mineralization in which there is considerable quartz opened up. Determination of values has not yet been made.

THOMPSON CADILLAC — The plant is reported to be very efficient. The heads from the small mill are reported to be running $10 a ton.

O'BRIEN CADILLAC — Stoping out some very rich ore on the 110-foot level.

LARTIC—The new shaft is down to a depth of seventy-five feet. Progress is being maintained at a rate of about four feet per day.

PANDORA — Is reported to be working on a strong mineralized zone composed of schisted greywacke containing irregular quartz stringers.

MAYLAND—Is down 4,440 feet with slight showings of oil for the last fifty feet. Nothing of consequence as yet.

OKALTA—Producing from the two separators around 500 barrels. On connection of further separators will do much better.

SPOONER—Seven hundred feet of oil in No. 2, and looks good.

ILLINOIS ALBERTA No. 2—Having trouble with diamond drill, but will be overcome no doubt.

ROYALITE No. 17.—Have now around 6,000,000 feet of gas. Further increase is expected.

ROYALITE No. 14.—Hopes to get the hole clear in a day or two.

McLEOD—Will be a week yet before they get going with diamond drill.

COPPER—Copper buying is reported to be in fair volume. Foreign buying is moderate, measured by day to day sales. Total to date in November exceeds 51,500,000 pounds. The automobile industry is contracting for delivery through the first quarter. Fair sales have been made for February delivery. Present output is not more than sufficient to build up stocks of refined copper at a reasonable rate.

ZINC—Buying is in fair volume and the price still remains unchanged at 6¼ cents a pound, East St. Louis, for prime Western zinc.

Mining News

By Miller, Court & Co., Ltd.

Mr. B. F. Lundy, president of Cotton Belt Mines, Ltd., operators of the Meadow View property, located thirty miles from Edgewood, states that development work on the property is being rushed with a view to proving sufficient ore to warrant construction of a mill on the property next Spring. A crew are now at work on a shaft being sunk on the main vein. Mr. Lundy states that an average of samples at the thirty-eight-foot level gave return of $32.80 in free milling gold, and 7.5 ounces of silver to the ton. Average samples at the fifty-foot level show $38.40 in gold and 817 ounces of silver. It is the intention of the operator to connect the veins on the property by means of a tunnel after the shaft has proven the downward continuation of ore. Construction of a permanent camp has been completed. The property was examined by F. W. Guernsey, M.E., and Mr. Lundy states that he was well satisfied with the results of development work.

Fabyan No. 1 well commenced blowing mud and sand forty feet over the derrick on Thursday afternoon, according to a report from the scene of operations. It is estimated that the gas pressure is about 10,000,000 feet.

Tribute to British Columbia mining laws was paid by T. A. Rickard, San Francisco mining engineer and editor of mining publications, at the convention of the Western Branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy here Thursday. Mr. Rickard said: "I know of no state or province where the mineral industry could have been so well represented as at the institute meeting this morning by Provincial Mineralogist J. D. Galloway and his resident provincial engineers. In my state, California, the state mineralogist is usually a political appointee and is compelled to employ those whom the politicians recommend. Our services do not come up to yours. In very few communities could nefarious mining practices be checked up as in British Columbia, as there would be the suspicion that the officials were playing someone else's game. Your officials are above suspicion."

BOND NEWS

Associated Breweries Common—Think this stock is good buying around present prices.

Sherwin Williams earned $13.30 per cent on the common stock outstanding as compared with 8.84 per cent for the previous year. This company recently acquired the Winnipeg Paint & Glass Co., which will do much to round out its selling or distributing facilities in the Prairie Provinces.

Canada Cement—Up to the present, the operations of this company have established a new high record for all time in volume of production. It is reported that the Winnipeg mill of the company has been operating successfully this year following upon a change over last year from the dry to the wet process.

Dominion Glass—We have heard this company may be sold at a price of approximately $200 per share. This is not official but is based on rumor, but we think it may have something in it. During the first week of December it is expected that the annual financial statement for the year ending September 30, 1928, will make its appearance, and little doubt exists but that the statement will be a highly constructive one. Last year the company showed earnings of $9.25 per share on the common stock contrasting with $7.28 the previous year. Estimates as to the net earnings to be shown in the annual statement, which will make its appearance shortly, range all the way from $9 to $12.

National Distillers, Ltd.—There has lately occurred a revival of interest in the stock of this company, which was offered to the public some months ago, and ultimately given a position on the Montreal curb market. After a brief show of strength, the stock passed into the neglected section of the list, and ultimately drifted down to around $8 a share. Of late the interest in the issue has freshened considerably, and the stock has moved up consistently to a point within striking distance of the original offering price to the public of $20 a share. It will be recalled that the company took over the old Dawes Brewery plant located at Lachine, near Montreal, and installed ultra modern distillery equipment, converting the old brewery into a very efficient distillery unit. The company also operates the Manitoba Refinery plant at St. Boniface, Manitoba, thus giving it strong contacts with both the Western and Eastern Canadian markets. Stocks of maturing spirits have been steadily increased at both plants, and the operation of the company greatly strengthened in this and other directions.

National Biscuit earnings this year probably will equal around $8 a share with prospects that 1929 will show better than $9.50. The company's surplus of $20,000,000 encourages the expectation that favorable developments are pending for stockholders.

Expansion plans of the Ludlum Steel management involve issuance of 25,000 additional common shares.

Net earnings of the David Pender Grocery Company appliable to dividend from October sales were $47,528, an increase of 57.4% over net of October last year.

Johns-Manville Corporation has completed negotiations for the purchase of the properties and assets of the Celite Company of California, it was announced yesterday.

Household Products declares 500 extra dividend payable January 2, record December 15. Similar extra was declared this time last year.

S. M. Vauclain, president of Baldwin, says plants are running at 20%. Good business is in sight and looking better all the time.

Heeney Motor Co. stockholders will meet December 4 to vote on increase in common stock to 500,000 shares from 200,000 shares and change in name, possibly to Motor Industries Corporation.

General Motors October sales to dealers, 120,876 cars, against 167,460 in September, 128,459 in October, 1927; ten months, 1,727,778, against 1,562,748 in full 1927 year. October sales dealers to users, 140,883, against 148,784 in September and 153,833 in October, 1927. Ten months, 1,717,591, against 1,554,677 in full 1927 year.

Hornblower & Weeks — Public selling will afford buying opportunities and we would accumulate leading stocks at attractive levels.

Fenner & Beane—Profits should be taken on stocks as matter of market protection.

PREMIER TELLS OF RESOURCES

Hon. S. F. Tolmie Gives Inspiring Address to Comox Canadian Club on Wealth of Province

INTERPROVINCIAL TRADING IS URGED

CUMBERLAND, Nov. 23.—About sixty members of the Comox District Canadian Club met at the Union Hotel on Wednesday when Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, was the guest of honor. President Seymour Abrams was in the chair and after an excellent dinner, called the meeting to order.

In welcoming Premier Tolmie to Cumberland, Mr. Abrams paid the guest of honor a glowing tribute.

In choosing for his subject, "The Resources of British Columbia," Dr. Tolmie told them that in no province were there the same opportunities as in British Columbia, and they all ought to be sufficiently conversant with them to talk of them intelligently, on the train while traveling and meeting strangers, on the street, and in fact any place they might happen to be, not boastfully, nor colored, but truthfully and with conviction. He spoke of the small esteem Eastern Canada had for British Columbia at Confederation, and said that this province was the only one that contributed a foot of ground to help the building of that great national project, the Canadian Pacific Railway, a project that had done more toward building up the prosperity of the whole of Canada than anything else of which he knew.

GOOD LAND IN SEA

The "sea of mountains," as British Columbia had been called, had twenty-three million acres of land good for the plough, and was using only 475,000 acres of it; 160,000,000 acres of range land, "land that would make a Texas man's eyes pop right out of his head;" 100,000,000 acres of timber range, and 60,000,000 acres of open range. Yet with all that land available the people were buying millions of pounds of foodstuffs to feed themselves.

The three states to the south of us, Washington, Oregon and California, were using 69.7 per cent of their range, while we, in British Columbia, was only using 6 per cent. We should make use of our land and feed ourselves, declared the Premier.

So far as other agricultural products were concerned it was a matter of developing markets. The United States was shipping apples to Holland, China, and other countries, and there was no reason why British Columbia should not be doing the same.

With regard to the timber, British Columbia had half of the merchantable timber in Canada. He thought the time was ripe to make a thorough survey of the timber conditions, and intimated that it was probably one of the first things his Government would do. He proposed that in the contemplated survey, provision would be made for reforestation where it was needed and would prove successful.

With reference to the fishing industry, British Columbia produced 46 per cent of the fish in Canada, but, as a result of the depletion of the sockeye they were canning today varieties such as dog salmon, pinks, etc., that at one time, no one caught, but were now quite marketable.

MINING PROSPECTS

Coming to the mining prospects, the Premier said it was the mines that held out to them one of the greatest opportunities for development in the province. Up todate, mining had meant $900,000,000 to the province, of which coal, since 1854, amounted to $256,000,000. In speaking of the mines, the Premier said that he had been informed by the provincial librarian, Mr. Hosie, that his (Dr. Tolmie's) father had recorded the first coal found on Vancouver Island, the year being 1833. Coal, however, had languished under the competition of fuel oil, but he was happy to be told that better times were ahead with the uses to be made of powdered coal. He was also very interested to learn from his friend Colonel Villiers, that it was quite possible that a process might be found for using bituminous coal, so that power could be produced from it cheaply and to compete with electric power. That was worthy of further investigation.

The mountains in British Columbia are one of the greatest assets we have; tourists would come here one year, tell their friends, and a further crop would be here the next year. We could sell scenery year by year, and we had more to offer than the famous mountains of Switzerland.

Talking of the tourist trade led the Premier to roads and he expressed the belief that it was absolutely necessary to develop roads throughout the province to keep pace with the development of the automobile. Roads must be wider and harder surfaced and with fewer curves. We must try to build them properly at the beginning, rather than cheaply and have to renew them every few years. We had a wonderful climate, second to none in the world, and our ports were wide open 365 days of the year.

INTERPROVINCIAL TRADE

He advocated interprovincial trading, and had suggested to Premier Brownlee, of Alberta, whom he met a few days ago, to get his people to trade east and west rather than north and south. Keep the dollar at home until the edges wore thin, then, if one so desired, trade elsewhere.

Summing up the Premier said: "We have a country bristling with opportunities, but the trouble was to get the men to take hold of them. It was up to the people of British Columbia to realize the great gifts that had been given them and to do their best to develop them for their own advantage."

The Premier was given an ovation on taking his seat, and on motion of Mr. Anderton, seconded by Mr. Eadie, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to him for his very interesting talk.

During his stay in Cumberland the Premier was the guest of Lieut.-Col. C. W. Villiers at "Beaufort House," and he returned to the capital Thursday morning.

HUNTER SHOT THROUGH FOOT

CAMILLE DE COUER, OF CUMBERLAND, IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Brother-in-Law's Rifle Accidentally Discharged When Climbing Bank After Deer

CUMBERLAND, Nov. 23.—Camille De Couer, of Cumberland, while out hunting with his brother-in-law, James Potter, was shot in the foot through the accidental discharge of the rifle carried by Potter. The pair were walking along a creek in the vicinity of Union Bay when they sprang a deer. De Couer fired, and in the excitement, it is presumed, young Potter cocked his rifle, a .38-.45.

De Couer proceeded to climb the bank alongside the creek, his companion following right behind. In some manner not explained, the rifle was discharged and De Couer was hit in the heel, the bullet passing between the two main bones and coming out at the front of the foot. The injured man managed to make his way to the automobile parked on the roadside, distant about one mile, and was driven to Cumberland by Potter and admitted to the hospital.

An X-ray picture taken on Thursday morning revealed that little damage was done, one of the bones just being grazed.

TEACHERS MEET IN CONVENTION

WELCOMED BY MAYOR BUSBY AT MALASPINA HOTEL, NANAIMO

Minister of Education Gives Address—Musical Programme Follows Lecture

NANAIMO, Nov. 23. — In the Malaspina Hotel yesterday afternoon, the Central V.I. Teachers' Association opened their seventh annual convention. The meeting was opened with the singing of "O Canada." Mr. V. Pritchard, the chairman, called upon Mayor Busby, who gave an address of welcome on behalf of the school trustees. Mr. John Shaw also extended a welcome to the teachers and gave a few comparisons of the teachers of a few years ago with the teachers of today. On behalf of the teachers Miss S. Reay responded. A very interesting address was given by Mr. George S. Pearson, M.P.P., which was well received.

A most able address was given by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education. He stressed the point that one of the chief reasons why the Government of British Columbia was spending so much on education was that the girls and boys of today, the future citizens of British Columbia and Canada, would turn out to be citizens worthy of Great Britain, our Mother Country. He also spoke of British integrity and British thoroughness; things that could not be pushed aside very easily. He then passed on a few pointers to the parents, stating that they should not expect too much of the teacher. He stated that the education of a boy began at the birth of his parents, and that teachers had to conquer traits and manners that had been handed down from their grandparents or even their great-grandparents.

Another thing that he brought to the fore, in which the Government took no active part, was that of the spiritual education, and that played an important part in the education of today.

Those taking part in the musical programme were: Miss Nellie Rogers, Miss Lythgoe, Mr. J. Sullivan and Mr. Gabriel Brown.

Choral Society Has Social at Chemainus

CHEMAINUS, Nov. 23.—On Tuesday evening, after the usual weekly practice, the Choral Society held its monthly social evening, there being an attendance of thirty-three members. The entertainment committee for the evening consisted of Mrs. Aiken, Mrs. Knight, Mr. Scholes and Mr. H. Smiley. All took part in an interesting competition, of which the prize winners were: Mr. J. C. Adam, Miss Edith Payne, Mr. W. Allester. A short programme followed. Mrs. Eberts sang "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," Mr. Allester accompanying with a violin obligato, "By Moonlight Waters" was sung as an encore. Mr. Stewart Irvine sang "Pale Hands I Loved," his encore being "Jessie's Dream." Miss Eva Moncrieff was heard in "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," with "Souvenirs" as an encore. A vote of thanks was passed to the committee, and a committee appointed to arrange a social evening for December.

THREE SISTERS DROWN IN RIVER

Granddaughters of Mrs. E. H. Cross, of Shirley, Victims of Tragic Accident

SHIRLEY, Nov. 23.—Mrs. E. H. Cross left for Vancouver yesterday en route to Saskatchewan upon receipt of the news of the tragic death of her three little granddaughters, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Kruger. Mrs. Kruger is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Cross.

The children had accompanied their father to take their mother home from hospital in Carlton, and on the return journey struck a soft place on the Saskatchewan River and went through.

When Mr. Kruger had rescued his wife he could not find the children, and they were undoubtedly drowned and swept away. The youngest little girl was only about four years old.

The remainder of the family consists of two elder boys who had remained at home.

Mrs. Kruger is also a sister of Mrs. J. Sullivan and Mr. Thomas Cross, of Shirley. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents.

FAILURE TO REPORT COMMUNICABLE ILLS CAUSE OF EPIDEMICS

There exist in all parts of Canada laws which require that when a communicable disease occurs its occurrence shall be promptly reported to the health authorities. It is known that such reporting is not by any means complete, as is also the fact that many otherwise law-abiding citizens evade the law in this respect whenever possible.

The reporting of certain diseases is required by law for several reasons. In the first place, the health authorities who are responsible for the control of communicable diseases cannot set the control machinery to work until they know that disease exists. The control does not consist merely in placing a placard on the house and quarantining the inmates. That is part of the work, but a more important phase is that of tracing back and finding the source of the case. If this is done, the source is removed and other cases prevented. If a case is not reported, the source is not removed and may continue to be responsible for more cases.

It is the reporting of an unusual number of cases of typhoid fever which first directs the attention of the health authorities to the need for action to discover the break in the protective machinery. If the first knowledge they have is of the deaths which occur, needless delay in dealing with the cause results; many more cases and deaths follow because of this delay.

The control of communicable diseases is a community problem. Its success will be largely measured by the extent to which all citizens cooperate in the effort. Just as long as cases are hidden or not being reported in order to evade some personal inconvenience, even if isolation in the home is properly carried out, the health authorities are being hampered in their work, which, after all, is for the protection of the very people who sometimes hinder their efforts.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

BODY IS FOUND IN UNCLAIMED BAGGAGE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—The body of a man, believed to be Chinese or Japanese, was found in a trunk bought today at an unclaimed baggage sale by J. E. Betts, of Burnaby. Betts, who bought the trunk for $14.50, upon opening it found a well-made wooden casket. Inside this was a tin container, soldered, which upon being opened, disclosed a body. It had apparently been embalmed.

Authorities believe that it had possibly been prepared for shipment back to the Orient. How it came to be in the unclaimed baggage is the mystery confronting the officials. The body has been taken to the morgue and Burnaby police are continuing their investigation.

DRUG SENTENCES

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—Magistrate Shaw's determination to stamp out the drug traffic was shown today when, after Chow Lee had pleaded guilty to distributing drugs, the court sentenced him to serve five years in the penitentiary, with a fine of $500 and costs in default of payment of which a further three months be served.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Mr. Possum Shows Off His Tail

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Rusty the Fox Squirrel was feeling better now. He was outside that hollow tree in which he had been trapped by the Possum whose home it was. He was outside and so no longer worried. Now fear had given way to curiosity. Yes, indeed, fear had given way to curiosity. He was curious about that tail that Mr. Possum possessed. He was so proud of his own tail and he found it so useful that he couldn't imagine Mr. Possum's queer tail with no hair on it as being useful at all. Back in the Green Forest, from which Rusty had made a long journey, he had met Unc' Billy Possum, but never had been really acquainted with him. He had never noticed Unc' Billy much. He hadn't noticed him enough to wonder at all about Unc' Billy's tail, which was exactly like the tail of the Mr. Possum whom he had just met. So Rusty had been asking questions.

"Your tail may suit you, Mr. Squirrel," said he, "but Ah wouldn't have a tail like that"

Now, Mr. Possum had recovered from his anger over having had his home occupied by Rusty, and had listened with some amusement to Rusty as he bragged about his own beautiful tail. "Your tail may suit yo', Mr. Squirrell," said he, "but Ah wouldn't have such a tail as that. Ah don't jump from tree to tree, so Ah don't need anything to balance me. Ah don't sit up to eat, so Ah don't need a tail to shut off the wind. Ah wouldn't have such a tail as yours if Old Mother Nature would give it to me. Ah wants a tail that is useful and Ah reckon that is the kind of a tail Ah has."

Rusty looked at that bare, tapering tail, and for the life of him he couldn't see of what possible use it could be. He said so. Mr. Possum's small eyes twinkled.

"Ah will show you," said he. "Yo' see that tree right over there. That's a persimmon tree. Ah's right fond of persimmons. Yo' watch me get some of those persimmons."

Mr. Possum climbed down from the tree in which he and Rusty were sitting, and leisurely went over to the persimmon tree. Up this he climbed. By and by he got out to where the branches were small. They bent under his weight. Rusty began to wonder if Mr. Possum wasn't in danger of falling. Then he made a discovery. That queer tail was wrapped around one of those small branches. It was wrapped around that branch tightly Mr. Possum let go with both his forefeet and reached out to pick a persimmon. He didn't fall, because he was held in place by that tail. He picked the persimmon and ate it. He smacked his lips over it. Then he discovered a particularly nice persimmon hanging from a branch a little below it. He couldn't reach it, although he tried. Then he did what to Rusty was an astonishing thing. He let go entirely with his forefeet and hung head down, so that he had hold of that branch only with his hindfeet and his tail. Rusty saw right away how very handy that tail was. He even let go with one hindfoot. Then he reached and stretched and stretched and reached until finally he got hold of that persimmon. Then he pulled himself back upon that branch. He looked over at Rusty.

"What do yo' think now, Brer Squirrel, about mah tail?" he inquired.

"It's a splendid tail," replied Rusty. "I-I wish I had a tail like it."

Mr. Possum gave a pleased sort of chuckle. "Yo' wouldn't like it," said he. "It is all right for me, but yo' wouldn't have any use for it. The kind of a tail yo' need, you've got. The kind of a tail Ah need Ah have. But don't make fun of anybody's tail. Find out about things before yo' make fun of them."

This, I think you will agree, was very good advice.

The next story: "Rusty Gets Busy."

Sudbury Basin Mines

(By Brown Bros. & Allan, Ltd.)

This company is capitalized at 2,000,000 shares of no par value, of which 1,415,505 are issued. The company is a holding company incorporated with the intention of proving up its properties and then forming subsidiary companies, in which Sudbury Basin shareholders will be offered valuable rights. Sudbury Basin owns large blocks of stock in some of the most attractive properties in the Canadian mining field.

Sudbury Basin owns 200,000 shares of Sherritt-Gordon, which at present market prices adds about seventy cents a share to the value of Sudbury Basin, while the 1,000,000 shares of Falconbridge Nickel with a market value of approximately $5,000,000 held by the company adds another $2.50 per share. The company also holds 148,400 shares of Malartic Gold Mines valued at about $160,000, a controlling interest in Tripp Gutcher Gold properties, Jackson Manion Mines at Narrow Lake and 1,175 units (out of a total of 40,000) in T. W. Bathurst Ltd., a holding company for Bathurst Mines, which has been getting startling values down to the 250 level on what is known as the "Golden Sidewalk."

Sudbury Basin has approximately $2,000,000 cash in the treasury and it seems safe to assume that their stock holdings are worth $3.50 on the total capitalization, while there still remain 585,495 shares in the treasury, which no doubt with rights to present shareholders would bring the company close to $3,000,000 if an issue were made. On this basis we find that the company has, in cash and stock, about $6 for every share, with indications that this will be increased enormously when such holdings as Sherritt-Gordon, Falconbridge, etc., begin to produce. At the present market prices this only leaves $1.25 a share to discount their enormous holdings, some of which give promise of developing into truly great mines. There is no doubt that there has been quite an accumulation going in Sudbury Basin stock and that substantially higher prices are due in the not too distant future.

Whitney Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, says:

An exceptionally irregular market resulted from a combination of the decision to close the exchange Saturday and the announcement that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York would release a statement at 1 o'clock which later proved to be nothing other than an announcement of the name of the new governor of the bank. Practically all of the declines which resulted from the nervousness pending the Federal Reserve statement were recaptured before the close, which latter fact is not as important as the evidence supplied by the market concerning the level at which sponsors were prepared to take any stocks which the public had to offer. And in all, we have again had sufficient evidence presented by the action of the market itself that the trend is still upward, and, since this is the trend, there is nothing to do but continue what we have been doing, namely, buying stocks, concentrating this week particularly on the rail issues.

Canadian Pacific on Friday crossed 250 for the first time since 1913, and, by virtue of profit taking at the close, should be available to you for a short time on Monday at or below $250. Sixteen years ago Canadian Pacific sold over $30 a share higher than this price, so you are far from making new high records for the stock in following the recommendation to buy it now. Erie was held in check for the day by the technical difficulty of overcoming the combination of exceeding its previous record top and going into the seventies for the first time in its history. The purchase of the stock at or below 70 continues to be recommended in the belief that it will, in the near future, sell some $15 to $20 higher. St. Paul preferred, which continues available below $55 a share, and has thus far failed to participate in the last advance of the Northwest rails, is again recommended for purchase for the previously stated reason, namely, earnings entirely out of proportion to the present selling level of the stock.

New York Central continues available below 190; its purchase is again recommended. Associated Dry Goods has now recovered from the technical reaction which it sustained after previously establishing a price of 60. If it was not purchased on the earlier recommendations or during the week's reaction, it should be bought today in the low sixties. Allied Chemical, which had been consolidating its last advance for a period of approximately seven weeks, is about ready to inaugurate a renewed move. Holdings of the issue should be replaced before the stock crosses 240.

In the steel group, buy Steel under 170, Colorado Fuel under 80, and Bethlehem Steel under 85. Do not become discouraged by the market action of International Combustion Engineering, as it will soon disclose that this issue is in preparation for the most sustained advance the stock has had since its appearance. Superior Oil is fulfilling predictions and will continue to fulfill them.

Consolidated Stock Advances $70 on Market

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—Consolidated Smelters staged a little act of its own on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning. While it was holding the spotlight, this issue jumped $70 a share in value and around noon was selling at $389 a share. The stock, however, did not come out in extraordinarily large quantities, and the impressive gain is partly accounted for by the fact that the stock is fairly well tied up and not available in large quantities to the general stock-buying public.

MONEY MARKETS

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Money, 3 1-4 per cent. Discount rates: Short bills, 4 1-4 to 4 3-8 per cent; three months' bills, 4 3-8 per cent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Call money, firm; all loans, 6 1-2; closing bid, 6 1-2. Time loans, steady; mixed collateral, 60-90 days, 6 7-8 to 7; 4-6 months, 6 3-4. Prime mercantile paper, 5 1-2. Bankers' acceptances, unchanged.

PARK PROJECT IS SUPPORTED

VICTORIA CHAMBER ENDORSES RESOLUTION OF PORT ALBERNI BOARD OF TRADE

Reservation of Long Beach, on West Coast of Island, for Park Purposes Will Be Sought

A proposal that Long Beach, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, be reserved for park purposes and secured for the benefit of the Canadian people, received the support of the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at their fortnightly business meeting yesterday in the Chamber dining-room.

The Chamber endorsed the following resolution, which was recently passed by the Port Alberni Board of Trade, and was forwarded to the local Chamber for consideration by the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island.

"Whereas the Canadian National Parks Association, operating under the Department of the Interior of the Dominion Government, have shown praiseworthy activity in selecting and setting apart various national parks throughout Canada;

"And whereas no reservation for park purposes has been made that would give the people of Canada an opportunity of seeing the broad Pacific and all the wonders and attractions of a surf and beach location;

"And whereas tourists in general are noticeably disappointed when they visit the well-known cities of British Columbia, Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, at not being able to view the grandeur of the Pacific Ocean;

"Now therefore be it resolved that the Canadian Parks Association of the Dominion Government be requested to investigate the possibilities of the reservation for park purposes of Long Beach on the west coast of Vancouver Island, which is the most suitable, the most extensive and the finest beach on the North Pacific, and to secure it for the benefit of the Canadian people."

The motion that the Victoria Chamber endorse the resolution was sponsored by Mr. B. C. Nicholas, and seconded by Major H. Cuthbert Holmes.

Canadian Officials Refuse to Attend Radio Conference

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—The Toronto Globe today publishes the following from Washington, saying that Canadian radio officials are refusing to attend a conference which was to have been held here with the Federal Radio Commission the latter part of this month in connection with the allocation of short waves for the North American Continent.

The Canadians, it is reliably reported, will not even discuss such allocation with the United States officials, unless they are promised 50 per cent of the available channels of short wave.

It is said here that the Canadian attitude has been changed because United States officials refused to allocate an additional cleared channel for Canada for use by a broadcasting station at Winnipeg.

A conference was held this afternoon by members of the commission and W. R. Vallance, solicitor of the State Department, who has been handling the international radio questions for that department.

An effort is being made to adjust the differences in a manner satisfactory to both Canada and the United States.

The Kangaroo Road

By CHRISTINA J. S. CLARK

To most people the joy of motoring over an unfamiliar road is enhanced if there is someone in the party who knows the district and can point out the most interesting places and answer the many questions one feels inclined to ask regarding them.

Some organization, or the Public Works Department, should really take up the task of supplying information to the traveling public as to the name of every creek, river, lake, village, school, etc., on the public highways. So many times one wonders first what the names are of such places, and it becomes tiresome to have to ask for such information. At present, side roads are pretty well marked along the main roads, and it is quite interesting to imagine first how large a place they lead to.

Take one case in point. Traveling westwards along the Sooke road about fifteen miles from Victoria, one sees the sign "Kangaroo Road." It is a short cut to the Metchosin road from the Sooke road, a distance of about two miles, a narrow winding road over rough, rocky territory, used mostly as a detour when the main road is being resurfaced.

"Kangaroo Road! Why Kangaroo?" is the invariable exclamation of tourists when they see the signboard.

AN UNDERSIZED SPECIMEN

Many explanations have been offered regarding the origin of the name, and each decade sees a new one originated. The latest one is that an Australian on a visit to the neighborhood had imbibed not wisely but too well, and traveling along the road saw a squirrel, and declared "it was a mighty poor country that couldn't raise bigger kangaroos than that!"

A Public Works Department official on being asked for the explanation goes back to his younger days and relates how a family lived in that vicinity, some members of which were quite attractive maidens, who were very popular with the Metchosin young men. The road was only a trail in those days, and was frequently blocked with trees after a high wind. On one these occasions several young men bent on paying a social call had much ado to get through themselves, let alone taking their ponies, and expressed the opinion that "a person would need to be a kangaroo to navigate this trail."

But these explanations seem somehow an endeavor to fit the name with a reason, instead of giving the real reason for the name.

Let us go back to thirty-five years ago, when the writer's father heard the original reason while visiting an acquaintance resident there, and the logic of it becomes at once apparent.

This acquaintance, Mr. Frank Green by name, had been living there for some years previous, and had a cabin in the hills and a small patch of bottomland for a garden, and was quite enthusiastic regarding the beauties of the surrounding hills, and the splendid hunting to be obtained generally throughout the "Kangaroo district."

His visitor said he had heard that name several times before, but couldn't find it on the map. Mr. Green laughed and said it was only a local name for that particular part of the Metchosin district, and this is how it came about.

FAVORITE HUNTING GROUND

Between the Metchosin and Sooke roads it is rocky, hilly country, with frequent patches of black soil which springs keep moist, or where a stream meanders along, making a good garden patch. It was a favorite place with hunters, and a number of Old Country "remittance men" with no ties, who annually hunted there, "pre-empted" all the sections available, each building a cabin, and clearing enough land to grow a few "spuds," at which stage it was dignified by the title of "My Ranch." A "pre-emptor" paid two dollars to the Government and got his "record papers" for one hundred and sixty acres, more or less. He had to live on his pre-emption, and, when he had improved it to the total value of an average of two dollars and fifty cents per acre, received his "certificate of improvements," and then began paying yearly instalments until the full price of one dollar per acre had been paid, when he received his title deeds. Until he got his title deeds, if he wished to leave the place for a while, he had to get a leave of absence, say, for three months or so, and, if he remained away for a longer period without getting an extension of his leave, any person could get two neighbors to verify his absence and "jump" his pre-emption and the absentee's record would be canceled, and a new one issued to the "jumper."

Now these gentlemen without ties or incumbrances, as the case may be, would occasionally get "fed up" with their own cooking, or vice versa, and would leave their pre-emptions for months at a time without permission, and one of the others would invariably consider the absent one's cabin to be cosier, and his garden patch a size larger, and "jump" his ranch, abandoning his own pre-emption to the wanderer, when he meandered back for the hunting season.

CONTINUAL JUMPING

Every pre-emption had been "jumped" several times over until the long-suffering officials in the Lands Department who issued the "records," expressed the opinion that "the ranchers out there must be a blessed lot of kangaroos. They are always 'jumping' one another's pre-emptions." The name stuck to the locality, and, although the road through the "Kangaroo district" was known as a 'crossroad' when first put through, it finally emerged as the Kangaroo Road, but the village, or even settlement of that name, is as nonexistent as the animal itself, as far as Canada at least is concerned. A few ranchers have their homes along the road, but the remittance men of those days are no more, and all that remains to remind one of their residence there is the name and a few crumbling log cabins tucked away here and there in the hills, while old Mother Nature has thrown her arms around the "spud patches" and claimed them once again as her own.

Salient Points of the Bidding

Correct Bidding Procedure With Long Suit Lacking Tops

South's holding well illustrates the oft-repeated principle that, lacking high card strength in suit or hand, a suit, regardless of its length, should be passed originally and bid if at all on a later round. North's double of West's original Diamond bid provided South with the needed opportunity to reenter the bidding, fairly well assured now of obtaining the contract without having deceived partner as to his top strength.

Salient Points of the Play

Card Reading in Defensive Play

Trick 1. East plays the 10 of Diamonds, apprehensive that the play of the 2 would lead to a shift to Clubs in view of Dummy's Ace-Queen-small.

Trick 3. East shifts to Hearts on the probability that his partner has the Ace to justify his original Diamond bid.

Trick 4. West's return of Hearts furnishes the necessary trick to set the contract.

MR. WALKER IS DEPUTY MINISTER

Mr. J. L. White Retires From Office of Deputy Provincial Secretary —Chief Clerk Succeeds Him

A reorganization has been effected in the department of the Provincial Secretary, which will have the effect of making a saving in the expenditure of the office in the matter of salaries of some $2,100. Under the arrangements, Mr. J. L. White, the Deputy Provincial Secretary, retires from the service with an honorarium allowed upon his retirement.

The position of deputy of the department will be filled by promoting Mr. P. de Noel Walker, the chief clerk, to that position, while the post of chief clerk will in turn be filled by the advancing of another member of the staff, Mr. P. H. Hurley, to the office of chief clerk.

The changes that have been effected in the office will in no way disturb the work of the department. Mr. Walker has been with the Provincial Secretary's office for twenty-two years. Upon him has fallen a great deal of the detail of the office and he has always been regarded as a most efficient official.

Mr. Hurley, while a young man, has been identified with the office also for a considerable time and knows the work well. There will be little interruption in the carrying out of the duties of the department in the assuming of the new offices by these two officers.

Mr. White, who retires from the service, has been in the position of Deputy Provincial Secretary since the retirement of the late Mr. A. Campbell Reddie. He is a native of Ontario, and previous to entering the Civil Service had been in the retail drug business. He followed his profession in Victoria, and later in Greenwood.
